MET SUDDEN DEATH.

Joseph Fox, Sr., Killed by the Cars Saturday Morning.

DIED IN LESS THAN 20 MINUTES

He Attempted to Cross the Track Near The Old Snow Shoe Depot When He was Hit By Two Coal Cars Which Were Being Run in on the Siding.

A MILITARY CAREER TO BE PROUD OF

Saturday morning at ten minutes past eleven the community was terribly shocked by the sudden and tragic death of Joseph Fox, Sr. He was in the act of crossing the railroad siding on which coal cars are switched into the yard of the Bellefonte Fuel & Supply company, when he was struck by two coal cars, knocked down and ran over.

There were very few eye witnesses of the tragedy and those that did see it were for the moment struck dumb by the terrible scene. George Weight, superintendent of the coal yard, was the first to reach the injured man. He at once recognized the man as Joseph Fox. Mr. Fox was still conscious and managed to gasp out his name and then sank into unconsciousness. Soon others reached the scene attracted by the cries of Mr. Weight, and kind hands tenderly lifted and carried the suffering man into the livery stable of Jesse Cox's, where he was made as comfortable as possible.

Medical attendance was soon summoned, Dr. R. G. Hayes and Dr. George F. Harris responding. An examination was made and it was found that his left foot was cut off above the ankle, and just hung on by the tendons. The limb was also crushed clear up to his waist. His left hand was also badly cut and it was believed that he was injured internally. He only lived about twenty minutes, passing away shortly after half past eleven. His remains were then removed to the undertaking establishment of H. P. Harris, where they were prepared for burial.

An eye witness of the tragedy describes it as follows. He says: "I was coming up the railroad track from the Pennsylvania freight station when Mr. Fox was killed. The local freight was in the act of running cars into the siding. The engine was behind and gave the cars a hard shove sending them into the siding, the engine reversing and running back along the track near McCalmont's store. A brakeman was standing on the bumpers between the two cars. The cars were coming very fast and heard the brakeman crying to some one to get out of the road. Mr. Fox was coming from the direction of the express office and tried to cross the track near the corner of the old Snow Shoe ware house when the cars struck him and passed over him. It is not known whether he saw the train and thought he could get past in time or whether it took him unawares.

There is some dispute as to how the trainmen ran the cars in. Some claiming that they were making a flying switch. Such is not the case however, as they were doing what railroad men call "shooting" the cars in. The train is what is known as the local freight. Wm. Young is conductor, Theodore Van Scoyac, engineer; George Bouse, flagman; George Young and John Newman brakemen.

The sudden and untimely end of Joseph Fox only the more fully illustrates the biblical saying that "in the midst of life we are in death." He was a kind gentleman, universally liked by all who knew him and his sad death has cast a gloom all over this city, where he is so well and favorably known.

Joseph Fox, Sr., was born February 15th, 1844, in Kings county Parrish of Durrow, Ireland. He was 53 years, 8 months and 28 days old at time of death. When quite young he emigrated to this country. He learned the carpenter trade, working for many years at Pennsylvania Furnace, after which he came to Bellefonte. He was a good workman, steady and industrious, and a consistent member of St. Johns Roman Catholic church of this place.

Sometime during the Sixties he wedded Miss Mary Cooney, who survives him. Seven children were the issue of this marriage all of whom are living. They are Rose, Mame, Annie, Joseph, Alice, Helen and James. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Rose Fox; one sister, Mrs. Stinekirchner, of Newton, Kan.; and two brothers, Michael and Henry, of Belleville, Mifflin county.

The grief-stricken relatives have the sincere sympathy of the public in their terrible affliction.

Mr. Fox was a veteran of the late war and has a record in defense of his country that anyone might be proud of. He entered as a private in Co. H, Penna. Vol., mustered April 22nd, 1861. He was assigned to Third Brigade, 1st Div., in Patterson's army. He was in a skirmish with the cavalry June 25th, at Martinsburg, Va. They made an attack on Bunker Hill July 15th. He was mustered out July 29th, 1861. He entered again as a private in Co. G, 148th Penna. Vols., in August 18th, 1862. He was promoted to Corporal, then to Sergeant, then to 2nd Lieutenant, Dec. 22nd, 1864. He was made 1st Lieutenant Feb. 9th, 1865.

He was in the following services: Guard duty on Northern Central R. R. He was then in the 3rd Brigade, 1st Division, 2nd Corps; at the rear guard of the Army of the Potomac—that was Oct. 13th. He was then in service at Auburn and Bristow, Oct. 14; Mine Run, Nov. 26 and Dec. 2; Robertson's Tavern, Nov. 27-29; Locust Grove, Nov. 28; Wilderness, Va., May 5-7, 1864; Spottsylvania, May 8-12; Po River, May 9; Spottsylvania C. Duty at Forts Haskell and Steadman in Battery No. 10; Hatch's Run, Oct. 27; Fort Sedgwick, Nov. 5; sent back to Hatch's Run, Dec. 8-9; back to Weldon R. R., Dec. 9-11; garrison duty at Forts Stampson, Gregg and Cummings; Dabney's Mills, Feb. 5-7, 1865; Petersburg, March 25th; Boydton road March 31st; Fall of Petersburg, April 2nd; Farmville April 7th; Appomattox court house April 9; on duty near Alexandria, Va., and then in the grand review May 23; he was honorably mustered out June 1st, 1865.

An Arctic Ice Breaker.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 12.—Captain Sverdup of the Fram, of Nansen exploration fame, has arrived here to take part in a conference, to which American engineers were invited, for the discussion of the feasibility of constructing an ice-breaking steamer to penetrate the Arctic seas, especially along the coast of Siberia.

Next June Capt. Sverdup will start in the Fram for Greenland at the head of a Norwegian exploring expedition, which, it is expected, will be absent about two years.

Smuggled Phenacetine.

PORT HURON, MICH., Nov. 14.—Customs officers have unearthed extensive operations in Phenacetine smuggling. Nearly 500 ounces of the drug were confiscated today. It was found at the home of a Mrs. Frazer. The woman is under arrest. A New York firm receives royalty on all the phenacetine brought into the country. The smugglers avoid this, besides the duty of 60 per cent.

IN THE COUNCIL CHAMBER

The Public Building Is Ready For Occupancy.

IT WAS TRANSFERRED TUESDAY

MANY IMPORTANT BILLS PAID

Council convened Monday evening promptly at 7 o'clock. The following members were present:

President Hillibish, Valentine, Lowery, Shortlidge, Brachbill and Garrity,

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the clerk, and there being no corrections they stood approved.

Mr. Daniel Snyder, of North Allegheny street, asked council if they would lay water pipes down to his house a distance of 350 feet, if he would agree to dig the ditch, and if so to give him the grade of the street.

Mr. Crider appeared before council and requested them to take the public building off his hands as it was now completed. Mr. Crider also spoke for the Electric Light company in regard to furnishing the town with 40 arc lights. The street committee was asked at last meeting to wait on them and get their bids. Mr. Crider stated that they would furnish the forty lights at $100 a light per year. This would make the cost of lighting the town $4,000 a year. Mr. Shortlidge and other members of council thought that $90.00 a light would be plenty.

A communication was received by Chairman Brachbill of street committee from John M. Dale, attorney for L. T. Munson, requesting that something be done with the sewer at corner of his residence on Allegheny street. Every time it rains the sewer fills up and floods his cellar. Then the odor from the gas pipes which empty into this sewer sends out a stench which is very unhealthy. Unless something is done at once he will be compelled to bring suit for damages.

Street committee reported repairing several crossings. Much work has been done towards putting streets in order for the winter. Market committee reported receiving $1.60 as market fees from the market clerk. The curb market is now over for this season. Water committee reported setting up of water heater. It is in good working order. There was no report from Fire and Police or Finance committee.

The following report was read from Wm. Shortlidge, chairman of Nuisance committee, calling attention to the dereliction of duty on the part of Burgess Naginey:

Owing to the disposition of the Chief Burgess to shirk the responsibilities of his office, it frequently occurs that the Nuisance committee is importuned to abate nuisances, or breaches of the peace, which rightfully belong to the Chief Burgess. As we understand it, it is our duty to abate nuisances which effect the sanitary condition of our town, or effect the public health. Nuisances, which come from the noise of animals, dogs, &c., in our judgment, is a disturbance or a breach of the peace, of which the Burgess should take due notice, when a complaint shall have been made and require the informant to make an information, after which issue a warrant and have the owners arrested and dealt with according to law. The Nuisance committee try to discharge their duty without fear or favor and do not evade the responsibility of their office by referring the complainants to any other officer, when the subject of the complaint comes within their jurisdiction.

David O. Stine called on the Committee a few days ago and insisted on the Committee stopping the howling of dogs in the vicinity of his home, which were a great annoyance to him and his family. When he was told to go to the Burgess, he declined to do so, avering that it was the duty of the Committee and he wanted them to attend to it immediately. Cornelius Bland came with a similar complaint, his wife being very ill, when I referred him to the Burgess. He said he had been to the Burgess, who had referred him to the Nuisance committee. I look upon this transaction, on the part of the Burgess, as being an imposition, not only on the complainant, whose wife is very ill, but an imposition on the Committee. This complaint required immediate attention—the noise complained of should have been abated at once, which placed the matter without the jurisdiction of the Committee, for the simple reason, that it requires a certain length of time for the Committee to abate a nuisance. At the same time, it is within the jurisdiction of the Burgess to proceed immediately, who has the Police force at his command. In the matters that come under the jurisdiction of the Committee, if a case is made out, it must be wound up by the Burgess and High Constable, which shows the utter inability of the Committee to dispose of a case, which requires immediate attention; hence, it is clearly the duty of the Chief Burgess, and we think it is about time he knew what his duties are and would muster up courage to discharge them faithfully. It appears to your Committee that the Chief Burgess considers his office more of an ornament than it is for the benefit of the citizens of our town. If he was as anxious to discharge the duties of the office faithfully, as he was to get our citizens to vote for him, when he was a candidate, there would be no reason for criticising his official acts, or his failure to discharge his duties with fidelity.

Mr. Lowery stated that Wm. Kreamer requested council to exonerate him from his taxes, as he had been ill for some time and unable to work.

The request of Mr. Snyder was referred to water committee to investigate in regard to cost of pipe, and to street committee to get the grade.

In regard to making a new contract for lights it was decided to hold over until next meeting. In the meantime Mr. Shortlidge moved that an additional light be placed on Bishop street near the Catholic church, seconded by Garrity and carried.

In regard to complaint of Mr. Munson, the street committee was ordered to confer with borough solicitor in the matter. The request of Mr. Kreamer was referred to Finance committee.

Mr. Shortlidge moved that council adjourn to meet at 7.30 Tuesday evening to take action on accepting new building. After the adjournment the councilmen visited the new building and gave it a thorough inspection.

An adjourned meeting of council was held Tuesday evening from half-past 7 until 10. The following members were present: Hillibish, Gerberich, Valentine, Shortlidge, Lowery and Brachbill.

On the certificate of Architect Robert Cole, the new building now completed was taken off the hands of the builder, F. W. Crider, and now becomes the property of the city.

The street committee was instructed to lay a pavement of vitrified brick in front of the new building. The street committee was also instructed to investigate sewer on Allegheny street near residence of L. T. Munson, and if necessary put in a sewer trap similar to the one at the other end of sewer.

Mayor Frank Naginey appeared before council and made a statement defending himself from the charges made by the Nuisance committee. It was as follows:

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 16, 1897.

I have seen an article published in the Daily News, that certain charges have been made against me by the chairman of the Nuisance committee with reference to a nuisance caused by the howling of dogs within the borough, and censuring my conduct as chief burgess, I deem it necessary to state to the council that in the case referred to by Col. Shortlidge that

First—In the case of David O. Stine no complaint was made to me by either Mr. Stine or a member of said committee. My first knowledge of the case was contained in the report published in to-day's paper. If Col. Shortlidge is correct in his view of the duties of the Nuisance Committee in such cases it is certainly his duty as a member of council to report such cases to the Chief Burgess.

Second—As to the case of Cornelius Bland I would state that the nuisance was caused by two dogs—one a female owned by Mr. George Gross but in the possession of George McClelland, an employee of McCalmont & Co.—the other, a male, owned by McCalmont & Co. The only member of said firm living within my jurisdiction is Col. Shortlidge, a member of the Nuisance committee. Mr. Gross the owner of the other dog is poor, and has a large family. He would have been unable to pay a fine had one been imposed.

Believing that Col. Shortlidge would look after the conduct of his dog when notified, whether as an individual or as a member of the Nuisance committee I directed Mr. Bland to report to him, and at the same time I directed Policeman Mullen to serve a written notice on Mr. McClelland to remove such nuisance at once. He reported to me that said nuisance had been removed.

I believe that this was the method to dispose of a matter of this nature, but if the council believe that the owners of these dogs should be arrested and a fine imposed, I am ready to carry out their wish.

Respectfully,
F. E. NAGINEY,
Chief Burgess.

BUCKNELL BITES THE DUST

State Beats heir Old Rivals From Down the River.

SCORE WAS TWENTY-SEVEN TO FOUR

The Centre County Lads Outclass the Lewisburger's—Almost a Shut Out

NOTES OF THE GRAND GAME

The annual game of football between Bucknell and State College was played last Saturday afternoon at Athletic Park, Williamsport, and resulted in a big victory for State by the score of 27 to 4.

Six car loads of rooters made up of college students and [illegible] friends from here went down on special train Saturday morning. They were accompanied by the consolidated band of this place and the State College band.

At 2:15 State College made their appearance on the gridiron. They were greeted with a hearty cheer from their admirers. Ten minutes later the Bucknell team also appeared and were heartily received. Owing to the fact that two South Williamsport boys, Scholl and Murray, were playing with State, that team seemed to lead somewhat in Williamsport's favor.

The game on the whole was a clean one, only one of the players being ruled off for slugging. The only accidents that occurred of any note were a dislocated elbow and several bruised legs. The rulings of the officials were just and impartial, notwithstanding the complaints of a few disgruntled rooters. That State won was due entirely to her scientific and energetic playing.

For State, Curtin was the star player; Atherton's punting was also one of the game's features, as he invariably gained from 3 to 10 yards on an exchange. Cure, Scholl, Murray, of State, and Thompson, of Bucknell, all played an excellent game; the latter made the most sensational play of the game when he broke through State's line and scored a touchdown after a 30 yards' run.

On Bucknell's side Capt. Rober, Cattrall, Rowe and Hoffman proved to be the best ground gainers; the first three hit the line most effectually, while Hoffman repeatedly advanced the ball around the end. This same player also made some fine tackles, and that his playing was not so brilliant as in the Lehigh game was probably due largely to poor interference.

The students turned Williamsport upside down Saturday night. The streets were being constantly patrolled by enthusiastic rooters for both sides, whooping 'er up for their respective teams.

In future annals the game will be set down as a fair victory for State, and all that remained for Bucknell after the game was to sing that old song of "Well just wait till next year." The line-up was as follows:

STATE.		BUCKNELL.
Mechesney, Rahwn		Reimer, Ward
Cartwright	left tackle	Rowe
Murray	centre	Jennings
Randolph	right guard	Cober
Scholl	right tackle	Thompson
Ruble	right end	Jenkinson
Heckel	quarterback	Garner
Curtin	left half back	Hoffman
Dure	right half back	Nattres (S'th)
Atherton (Mechesney)	fuil back	Catterall

Summary: Touchdowns—Curtin Randolph, Scholl, Cure, Thompson. Goals from touchdowns—Mechesney 3. Goals from the field—Mechesney Umpire—Dr. Shoff, University of Pennsylvania. Referee—"Bucky" Vail, University of Penna. Linesmen—Lesher, Bucknell, and Foster, State. Timekeepers—Reimer, Bucknell, and Haley, State. Time of halves—30 minutes. Score—State 27, Bucknell 4.

Banking Sensation.

From the Pittsburg Leader we learn that Bank Examiner A. S. Grow and O. P. Cochran are investigating the affairs of the Allegheny county bank, located at Lawrenceville.

The bank is a private concern, has been in existence about six weeks, and has very fine offices. During the last week Charles Boyd, on of the reputed owners, has disappeared, and while his wife says that he is seriously ill at home, it is believed that he has skipped. The cashier also cannot be found. The actions of the officials have been looked upon with such suspicion that during the last few days three civil suits have been brought against the owners. When the affairs of the bank first came to the ears of the bank examiners, they made an effort to learn something of the inward workings of the concern, but were unable to do so owing to the claim being made that it was not a corporated body, and that it did not come under their jurisdiction. The Leader also states that it is rumored that it had come to the ears of the bank examiners that something like $56,000 in certificates of deposit had been issued but this cannot be affirmed, as Bank Examiners Cochran and Grow refused to state whether such a statement was correct or not. It was rumored that no check books were given out at the bank, and all depositors were handed certificates of deposit payable at different times.

The investigations so far as they have gone bring to the surface facts that show that the bank did not have a bona fide creditor, although many verified checks are out against the concern.

Engines for Foreign Countries.

Foreign orders have been received by the Baldwin locomotive works for fifty-nine locomotives of varying types involving an expenditure of nearly $600,000, and causing an early strengthening of the working forces. These make one of the largest orders booked by the company for some time, and, with one exception, are from foreign countries, a number of which have heretofore awarded their contracts to English and other foreign builders. This latest order includes ten passenger and twelve freight locomotives for the Finland state railway. The Central railway of Brazil orders sixteen freight and eight passenger engines, the Grand Trunk railway of Canada ten freight engines.

To Examine Tobacco.

WASHINGTON, November 16.—The government examiners of tobacco at several of the more important ports of entry in the United States, by direction of the secretary of the treasury, met in conference in New York recently with a view to the adoption of a uniform practice in the classification of imported tobacco. The report of the conference, which has reached the treasury department, makes three recommendations, as follows:

First. That 25 per cent, of all marks of every invoice of imported tobacco should be examined and that the rule for the present be limited to tobacco imported from the West Indies. Mexico and South America.

Second. That the percentage of wrappers found to filler bales be reached by the count of leaves.

Third. That the districts from which the tobacco is imported be marked on the invoice wherever practicable.

These recommendations will be adopted by the treasury department.

With a hundred thousand tons of Alabama coal going to Mexico for the use of her railroad locomotives in competition with English coal, it looks as though a new field is open to the South for her rich products.

WAITING.

Serene I fold my hands and wait,
Nor care for wind, nor tide, nor sea;
I rave no more 'gainst time or fate,
For, lo! my own shall come to me.

I stay my haste, I make delays,
For what avails this eager pace;
I stand amid the eternal ways,
And what is mine shall know my face.

Asleep, awake, by night or day
The friends I seek are seeking me;
No wind can drive my bark astray,
Nor change the tide of destiny.

What matter if I stand alone?
I wait with joy the coming years;
My heart shall reap where it has sown,
And garner up its fruit of tears.

The waters know their own, and draw
The brook that springs in yonder heights;
So flows the good with equal law
Unto the source of pure delights.

The stars come nightly to the sky,
The Tidal wave unto the sea;
Nor time, nor space, nor deep, nor high,
Can keep my own away from me.
—John Burroughs.

A MONTH.

"You can't do it, Mab; you can't hire a furnished house only for a month. It would be a chance in a hundred."

"I can try, and I am going to, Ethel. To stay stifling in this lonesome boarding house all the vacation is unbearable, and country board wouldn't be better, cooped up in attic chambers with the scent of fried doughnuts in all the closets. People who have pleasant country-places do leave them sometimes in the summer, for the lakes and the mountains; and the use of such a house would be a godsend to us."

"Yes, dear. Well, what do you propose to do?"

"Go down and see the house agents."

"I'll go with you."

These two young ladies were charming sisters of about twenty—schoolteachers in the city. They had no home but the large boarding house where they had dwelt for the last year, and this was cheerless enough when deserted by the nicest people who had hied away to green fields and pastures new at the first breath of sultry air.

Ethel was a pretty blonde—Mab, a bright brunette; but just now their beauty was shaded by overwork. They needed rest and escape from the monotonous round of school teaching.

The house agents listened and shook their heads.

"We have no furnished houses to let for so short a time as for a month. For two months now, or for the season—"

"We have only a month's vacation, and would need it only for that time," said Mab.

"Can give you no encouragement, positively. Sorry! Would be glad to accommodate you, ladies. And you might leave your address, and if any opening occurs we will let you know."

"I told you so," said Ethel.

So they turned away.

A handsome, buxom lady, richly dressed, passed in as they came out.

"Here's the key to the Pansies," she said. "I shan't need it for a month. I am going to the seashore, where it is livelier."

"But you hired the cottage for the season, Mrs. Willoughby."

"Well, all you have to do is to let it for me. I am responsible for the rent, of course, in any event. I prefer to have it let. There is the garden, horse and phaeton, poultry and cow. Somebody may as well have the good of them."

"Is the place quite vacant?"

"No. My boy Pixie is there."

"Fortunately we have a chance to let it at once for you, Mrs. Willoughby," said one of the agents, seizing his hat and hurrying after Mab and Ethel.

"Well, we have got the hundredth chance, sure enough, Mab."

"Isn't it a gem of a place, Ethel? And the strawberries and the flowers!"

"And the charming rooms!"

"And the pony phaeton!"

"And the Jersey cow that gives real cream! Fresh eggs every day, too. That boy, Pixie, seemed glad to see us. I expect he was lonesome."

"Everything is just delightful!"

The girls may well have congratulated themselves. The Pansies had every comfort and convenience for country life, but Helen Willoughby, being especially fond of society, and her brother being absent on a yachting trip for a month, had tired of its quiet and seclusion. But the retirement was just what Mab and Ethel needed and desired.

The pure, balmy air gave them refreshing sleep and good appetites. With their own fair hands they cooked the daintiest meals, trimmed the room with flowers, lunched off strawberries and cream, drove about the green country roads in the luxurious phaeton, or played and sang in the cool parlors—for there was a piano and plenty of music at their disposal. So happy and contented were they that they could think of the month ending only with a groan.

They put the unwelcome thought aside and enjoyed the present. They had no neighbors and they didn't want any. They wore cool wrappers all day, read in the hammocks, braided their hair down their backs, and lingered for two mortal hours at their meals.

But in these days of liberty and abandon came the long rain-storm. The rain came down in sheets—torrents. It was a deluge.

The girls watched it from their chamber window.

From a direction beyond their range two sturdy pedestrians, protected by a single umbrella, marched arm-in-arm through the merciless fall of water.

"Very stupid of me, Alan; but I thought we could make the six miles, and get to my sister's house before the rain fairly set in. But here we are, blowing our way through the water like a couple of porpoises. If you hadn't been sick—I'm afraid you'll get your death."

"Never mind, Lance. I'm dry as yet. I see a glimpse of white among the trees. Is that the house?"

"Yes, that's the cottage. Helen is a master hand at a hot negus. You'll be all right in a minute, my boy."

"You're browned up so by your sea trip, Lance, I don't believe your sister'll know you."

"Salt water agrees with me better than fresh—that's a fact."

By the time they had reached the Pansies, the rain storm had increased to such violence that Mr. Laurence Leighton burst open the door without much ceremony, and hurriedly relieved the virgin gold from the hills and shoes and dripping coats in the hall, where they proceeded to the parlor, where the open piano, flowers and books about gave the apartment the air to which Mrs. Willoughby's brother was accustomed.

"Helen is somewhere about, Alan. I'll find her in a minute."

Meanwhile the girls had heard the sounds of intrusion with unspeakable dismay.

"Robbers!" breathed Mab.

"Lunatics!" whispered Ethel.

Ethel looked as if she was going to faint. Mab's black eyes flashed. She picked up a parasol and marched down stairs. Ethel, catching the spirit of resistance, caught up a poker and followed.

Lance, who was about leaving the parlor in search of his sister, retreated in disma[illegible] before the appearance of these fair[illegible]ry eccentric-looking strangers.

"Sirs!" [illegible]ed Mab, "What does this mean? What are you here for?"

"Madam — ladies —" stammered Lance, looking at the parasol and poker.

"A mistake," murmured Alan Westford.

"What mistake?" demanded Mab. "This is our house. By what right are you here?"

"Pardon, but I left my sister, Mrs. Helen Willoughby——"

"She vacated the premises more than a fortnight ago."

"Then pray excuse me! I am intruding. I am Mr. Laurence Leighton; this is my friend, Mr. Westford, in whose yacht I have lately taken a sea-trip. We landed only this morning, and have had no late news of my sister's movements. I supposed she was here. We have just walked from Harborside, overtaken by the storm, and Mr. Westford has hardly yet recovered from an attack of pleurisy; but we will go to the village—to the hotel—at once, of course."

Mab's black eyes looked into Alan Westford's blue ones; and Ethel's blue eyes looked into Laurence's black ones. There was a pause.

"If Mr. Westford is sick——" said Mab, dropping her parasol.

"Of course he can't go out into the rain," said Ethel, putting away her poker.

"No, and I hope you will pardon us," said Mab.

"And stay to supper. We are not inhospitable," said Ethel.

"And Pixie shall drive you over to the hotel in the phaeton this evening," concluded Mab.

The supper was very nice. The young ladies wore their most becoming dresses and put up their long braids. Alan thought that Mab was the prettier; Laurence thought Ethel was.

The gentlemen spent the most delightful evening of their lives at the Pansies, and found their way back there, by invitation, the next day.

Quickly two engagements followed. These young people evidently counted time by heart beats. When, in the following spring, Laurence and Ethel were married, they purchased the Pansies as their summer home; while Alan and Mab took their wedding trip in the former's beautiful yacht.

CHEATING GAS METERS.

The New Automatic Kind Very Popular on New York's East Side.

The automatic gas meters which were placed on the east side by the Consolidated Gas Company are not doing their work satisfactorily. The machines are so constructed that when a 25-cent piece is dropped in the slot a valve is opened which allows 208 1-3 feet of gas to be used before it closes again. Several thousands of these meters were placed in the tenements of the east side. At first everything went all right, but soon the company's agent noticed that although a great deal of gas was being used few coins were being dropped in the slot. An investigation disclosed the system by which the gas company was being cheated.

The quarter used was attached to a string and lowered into the slot. There it was worked up and down until the valve had been opened four or five times, when it was allowed to drop. By this means more than 1,000 feet of gas was obtained for 25 cents. To meet this trick the company placed a small knife in the machine in such a way as to cut the string. This, however, was soon got around by the use of wire instead of cord.

The east side, in a blaze of lights, now awaits the next move on the part of the gas company.—New York Sun.

The High Hat of England.

In London silk hats are worn in the afternoon by all sorts of men with all sorts of suits. It is therefore not surprising to learn that 12,000,000 of them are made annually in the United Kingdom.

Teaching Thrift to the Young.

The number of minors who become depositors in the postal banks of countries having the system in operation is very large. It is principally for the purpose of encouraging children to save that provision is made for stamp deposits.

In Great Britain, for instance, the smallest deposit which will be received and entered in a passbook is 1 shilling, or 24 cents. However, smaller amounts may be saved by stamps. A child with a penny may buy a stamp and affix it to a card. When this card contains twelve stamps it can be deposited as a shilling, and the depositor is entitled to receive a passbook. This arrangement makes the institution very popular among the children, and is so convenient as to stimulate them to make use of its advantages, In addition the schools are frequently made use of as agencies of the postal bank for the collection of savings. The teachers receive the deposits of the children and turn them over to the postal bank authorities. Belgium is one of the countries in which the activities of the savings bank are extended to the schoolroom. Out of 7,447 primary schools, inclusive of infant schools and the schools of primary instruction attached to educational institutions of other classes, there were 5,798 which took part in the savings-bank business. The number of children in those schools possessing deposit books was 154,192, of whom 86,309 were boys and 67,883 were girls. Including the schools above primary grade there were, according to a recent report, 5,056 schools of all kinds in which 200,847 pupils had saved 3,734,402 francs. Most of the schools of Belgium, therefore, it may be said, teach thrift and economy with their instruction in the elements of education.

The spectacle of the postoffices of a country being used as a means for teaching the young the value of saving and inculcating in them habits that will be of great use to them in later life should make every thoughtful person an advocate of postal savings banks.—Chicago Record.

The Commission's Power.

Recent decisions of the United States Supreme Court have tended to curtail quite largely the power which the Interstate Commerce Commissionthas attempted to arrogate to itself during recent years. These decisions are making it clear that the function of the Interstate Commerce Commission is chiefly executive, and does not command that judicial quality which the commission itself has attributed to its office. The Supreme Court appears to regard the Federal courts as entirely competent to deal with questions of the violation of the interstate commerce act, and it is resisting steadily the evident attempts of the Interstate Commerce Commission to perform the functions of such courts.

Quiet Quaker Reply.

In a certain county where Quakers were numerous, says the San Francisco Wave, the entire body on one occasion gathered together for one of their periodical meetings. After the exercises of the morning a public luncheon was held, at which all the Friends attended. The conversation turned to matrimony.

"Bridget," said an unmannerly youthful member of the society, speaking across the table to an elderly maiden lady, "wilt thou tell me why thou hast never married?" "Certain Friend William,' replied Bridget, in a voice audible over the room, "'tis because I am not so easy pleased as thy wifewas."

The Reeder Case Not Reached.

Easton, Pa., Nov. 10.—The conspiracy cases against Gen. Frank Reeder, Assemblyman Weiss and W. C. Luckenbach may be heard by the grand jury to-morrow. The witnesses and defendants were all on hand except William A. Winsboro, the star witness for the prosecution. In the case of Winsboro, charged with appropriating $600 belonging to the Acme Slate Company, the grand jury ignored the bill.

Sheriff Martin's Trial Postponed.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 12.—A surprise was sprung in court to-day when District Attorney Fell asked for a continuance of the case against Sheriff Martin and his deputies charged with the murder of 24 strikers at Latimer, on the 10th of September. Counsel for Sheriff Martin entered a vigorous protest, but it was decided to continue the cases until January. The district attorney said that some of the wounded men were still in the hospital, and could not be present on Monday next, the day set for the trial.

New Orleans Open to the World.

New Orleans, Nov. 11.—There is nothing to report in the yellow fever situation to-day except a slight increase in the names of new cases and deaths. The record, however, is regarded with little concern.

Board of Health report: Cases of yellow fever to-day 11; deaths to-day, 6; total cases to date, 1.883; total deaths, 257; recovered, 1,077; and under treatment, 449.

The Board of Health to-night by resolution abolished all quarantines of whatsoever nature, both territorial and house, within the confines of its jurisdiction. This does away with all guards in the city and throws New Orleans open to the world. The board, by the same resolution, abides by the system of disinfection of infected houses and all personal effects from known affected localities.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 11.—Dr. Egan, Secretary of the State Board of Health, is in receipt of a letter from Dr. C. P. Spann, of Thebes, Ill., informing him that the writer and another physician have in the last three weeks treated eleven suspicious cases presenting symptoms of yellow fever. Two had black vomit. One death has resulted and one patient is in a critical condition. Dr. Egan has given instructions for an investigation and report and necessary steps will be taken to establish a quarantine.

He Won the Bet.

An uncouth old ranger from the San Joaquin Valley, was making his weekly trip to Stockton the other day, and chanced to be sitting with an impertinent drummer in the smoking car. The old man helped himself to the matches from the railroad box and tried to strike one and then another.

"You have to scratch them on the box uncle," remarked the drummer.

"Oh, I guess I kin strike a match," replied the rancher, as he ripped one across a varnished panel of the car and broke off the head. The drummer laughed at his failure and gave him some more information.

"The only way to light those matches is to strike them on the box," said he.

"Oh, I guess I kin scratch 'em most anywheres," and the old man tried one on the sole of his shoe, another on the arm of the seat, and another on the car floor, while the drummer only laughed.

"I tell you they are made so that they won't light unless you scratch them on the box."

"Bet you they will."

"I'll bet $1 they won't."

"Bet you $20 they will."

"I'll take it."

The wager was made, the old man took one of the metches, stood up, and hitching his trousers up so as to make a smooth surface over his broad thigh, gave the match a deliberate scratch and it blazed up. Then he deliberately lighted his pipe and threw down the stakes.

The smart drummer does not know that the innocent old rancher pays his expenses every trip on that trick, for he has a side of a match box sewed in his trousers beneath the tail of his long, shiney coat.

The homeliest man in Bellefonte as well as the handsomest, and others are invited to call on any druggist and get free a trial bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, a remedy that is guaranteed to cure and relieve all chronic and Acute Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. Went Back to Claim His Bride.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 11.—Frank Souder, son of Mrs. S. F. Taylor, a wealthy resident of Richmond, Va., who was taken from his bride in Atchison, Kans., by his mother in September last, returned yesterday to reclaim his wife. About a year ago Souder, who was a miner, came West to visit his brother at Hiawatha, Kans. He fell in love with a Miss Elliott, a poor, but respectable and accomplished girl at Hiawatha, and married her in September. His mother heard of the marriage, and immediately came West to find her son and take him away from his bride, whom she considered beneath the station of the family.

She found her son earning a livelihood as conductor on the Atchison street car line. She took him in charge and made him leave town with her on the first train without seeing his wife. Mrs. Taylor said she intended to take him with her on a trip through Europe. The young man returned to his wife, who was at Horton, Kans., in spite of his mother, a few days ago, and they will soon go to housekeeping in Atchison. Souder has secured a position with the Atchison Saddlery Company, and says he will earn his living by daily toil, asking no aid from his mother.

Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. Try it. Ask for GRAIN O.

True happiness does not begin for a womanly woman until she becomes a mother. The fear of death stands between thousands of women and this supreme joy. If a woman will but take the right course, she may trample this fear out of her heart, and all cause for it out of her body.

There is practically no danger, and but little pain, in maternity, for a woman who is thoroughly healthy and strong in a womanly way. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes the delicate organs that bear the burdens of maternity strong, healthy, virile and elastic. It banishes the distress of the period of impending maternity, and insures the newcomer's health and an ample supply of nourishment. An honest druggist will not try to get you to take some substitute for his profit's sake. Prospective mothers who write to Dr. R. V. Pierce will receive the best advice of an eminent and skillful specialist, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the great Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y.

"A neighbor of mine who was expecting the arrival of a baby before very long, was in very poor health," writes Eliza Remsnider, Postmistress, at Majella, Bourbon Co., Kansas. "I induced her to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. She used four bottles, and has just been delivered of as fine a daughter as I ever saw. She was only a short time in labor and is now doing well."

Suspected Postoffice Robbers.

Altoona, Pa., Nov. 12.—Harvey Dunley of Roaring Springs, and Atley Brown of Waterside, were held for court by United States Commissioner MacLeod on a charge of robbing the postoffice at Barbara on the night of October 21. They are also charged with extracting checks from letters in the Martinsburg postoffice, and with having bound and gagged Postmaster Barr and attempting to rob the Hollidaysburg postoffice last summer.

Hanna Loses a Ship.

Ashtabula, Nov. 11.—While leaving port to-day in the heavy northwest gale the steel steamer Roman, of the Hanna fleet, was caught in a heavy sea and dashed against the bottom of the lake, literally breaking the strong ship in two. It was only by a miracle that tugs were able to get the Roman back into the harbor before she foundered. No difficulty was experienced in rescuing the crew.

St. Joseph, Mich., Nov. 11.—The steamer Frank Woods, which was out in the gale, arrived at Milwaukee this afternoon after being out twenty-two hours. Nothing has been heard from the schooners George Naughtin and W. H. Dunham.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 11.—A severe gale, which has been blowing nearly all day and to-night, has suspended navigation on Lake Erie. At 4 o'clock this afternoon the wind reached a maximum velocity of sixty-seven miles an hour. The warning of the coming storm was heeded by vesselmen. Only two or three minor mishaps to shipping are reported.

All Furnaces Busy.

Pittsburg, Nov. 11.—For the first time in over three years, every blast furnace in Allegheny county is in operation. The starting of furnace F. of the Carnegie Steel Company here yesterday completes the list.

The list of furnaces in Allegheny county follows: Carnegie's at Braddock, nine; at Duquesne, four; Lucy, two; Jones & Laughlin, three; Monongahela Furnace Company at McKeesport, two; Shoenberger, two; Isabella Company, two; Carrie, two; Edith Company, one; Clinton, one; and Soho Company, one. Total, thirty.

A card on the outside of office door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes:" And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed.

The man who "bolts" his lunches will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best friend he ever met.

There is no case of billousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart-burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure. They cure permanently. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierces 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Now that Mr. Bryan has finished his attempt to "bury Mark Hanna," he can go to Mexico and congratulate the people of that country on the fact that their dollar has fallen 20 per cent. in value in the past year.

VESSELS TURN INTO SEVERAL PORTS

Their Cargoes Are on Fire, and Flames Baffle Efforts to Subdue Them. Then Trouble With the Great Winds.

THE DANGERS WHICH MEN FACE

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Nov. 12.—As the German steamship "Albano," Capt. Koch, was leaving this port to-day for Hamburg her cargo of cotton was found to be on fire. Three tugs went to her assistance but for more than three hours the flames baffled all efforts to subdue them. At 1 o'clock it was stated that the fire was out, but nothing definite could be learned, as none of the officers or crew had come ashore.

NEWPORT NEWS, Nov. 12.—The British steamship Governor, Captain Goldman, put into quarantine at noon with her cargo on fire, and an hour later dropped anchor in the river opposite the Chesapeake and Ohio passenger pier. The fire was discovered two days ago in the main hold. The ship was bound from Galveston to Liverpool and carried a cargo of cotton and grain. Captain Goldman said he believed the cotton was burning when taken aboard. The fire is still burning.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 12.—The two master schooner Mattie B. Russell Captain Drinkwater, New York for Baltimore, in ballast, was wrecked to day on the Ocean City bar. The Ocean City life savers rescued the crew of four men.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 12.—The Gloucester banking schooner, Helen Wells, was towed into this port to day, stripped of canvas, rigging and spars. She turned almost bottom up during the gale on Tuesday night last and barely escaped foundering.

Every man of the eighteen on board was injured. The ship's hold, the forecastle and the cabin filled with water; every bit of food and clothing was water soaked and the decks were swept of dories, gear, cables, etc.

The first wagon in Penns valley, having wheels with spokes, was transported hither, in pieces on mule back on the path leading over the Seven mountains, there being no wagon roads in the days of the early settlers. Thomas Huston, who lived on his farm two miles east of this place, owned it. It was a great curiosity as the wagons then in use in the valley were cumbersome and had wheels sawed from solid plank. People came from all parts of the valley to see this wagon; the wheels being supplied with spokes it was called the "the stick wagon."

HE WROTE TO JOSH.

The Same Was His Brother, and Then John Laid Down.

NEW YORK, November 13.—John C. Bullitt, jr., of Big Stone Gap, Wise county, Va., was found dead to-day in a room at the Central Railroad hotel, on Liberty street, this city, which he engaged on the previous night, having registered as from Duluth, Minn. The man had apparently committed suicide, as bottles containing hydro-chloric acid, cyanide of potassium and nitric acid were found on a table near the bed upon which the corpse lay. A letter found in the apartment addressed to Joshua F. Bullitt, Jr., Big Stone Gap, Wise county, Va., read as follows:

"THURSDAY—DEAR JOSH: I have decided to end it all. I wish that you and Jim will induce father and mother to so make their wills as to secure to my wife and daughter my one-third share of their estate. I ask that every paper, memorandum, etc., that I leave behind me be destroyed without being previously read. For my faults I ask only the charity of silence. If I possessed any virtues let them live in memory. You will, I know, be interested in knowing how a person feels who is about to step into the unknown world, hence I will tell you what my feelings are. I wonder, I doubt, I hope, but over all the wonder, and the doubt, and the hope, a feeling of intense curiosity prevails. What is the future? I believe I known, but it is only a belief. I am very curious to verify it. The feeling of fear is absent. I am going from here to the Eden Musee to play chess with the automaton. This fact illustrates my mental condition, perhaps better than a volume of my writing would. Death seems to me to be merely an event of no more importance, say, than breakfast. I love life. and hate to leave it, but the summons has been served, and I must answer. And now, good bye. We will meet again.

Your brother, "JOHN C. BULLITT, JR."

After registering at the hotel Bullitt was given a room on the second floor, Early this morning he came down stairs then returned to his room. That was the last time he was seen alive. As there was no response to the knocks of the chambermaid, the door of the apartmen was forced open late this afternoon and then the suicide was discovered.

A torn envelope found in the room showed that Bullitt received his letters in care of James McNaught, Syndicate Building, No. 25 Nassau street, this city.

The Democracy is rapidly losing its grip on the South. Look at the Senate of the United States. Maryland is now to have two Republican Senators; West Virginia has one and is likely to have another; Kentucky has one Republican and one other who refuses to co-operate with the Democrats on the currency question; Louisiana has one Democrat refusing to join with his party on the tariff; South Carolina has one and Georgia two who kicked over the traces on the tariff; North Carolina has no Democratic representative, one of her Senators being a Republican and the other a Populist; one Texan Democratic Senator refuses to support free silver. In fact, the number of Southern Senators who follow time-honored Democratic doctrines is becoming extremely small.

For Working People.

The Rev. John Adams, New Milford Ill., says: "Postal savings banks, in my opinion would be a particularly good thing for the country places. Take my own town, for instance—New Milford. We are six miles from Rockford, where there are savings banks, but our working people cannot afford to take the time to go there, and consequently have no other place than an old stocking or the chimney to put their little savings. When these people are saving any money it is particularly necessary that they should have a perfectly safe depository and this would be afforded by the government postal savings banks."—Chicago Record.

A Mockery of Pardon.

Gen. Blanco's amnesty proclamation is not likely to bring the Cuban patriots back in crowds to take the oath of allegiance. It has a very generous sound, but means nothing in their case. "I pardon in full all those who have been prosecuted for the crime of rebellion," the new Governor General proclaims. But he goes on to say that "rebels prosecuted for common crimes * * * will be pardoned as rebels but judged for other offenses committed by them." As Gen. Gomez and his fellow patriots have been outlawed not only for rebellion, but for "common crimes," such as incendiarism, spoliation, &c., the ban does not seem to be lifted in any great measure from the revolutionists. To receive pardon for rebellion and shot for a lesser offense would not afford them any substantial advantage. Indeed, it is more likely they would prefer to be shot as rebels. Gen. Blanco's amnesty is as great a humbug as Premier Sagasta's autonomy. Neither amounts to anything. It seems impossible for Spain to treat with Cuba in good faith.—Boston Post.

Nearly Gored to Death.

On Friday John Santsell living on the Shugert farm east of town, had an experience that equals the bull fights in Mexico.

He had finished watering his stock except this ferocious beast, and, in order to control him Mr. Santsell had a large ring nearly an inch thick through his nose, and attached to this ring was a heavy rope. Thinking this would certainly hold him he proceeded to take him out to the watering trough. The animal very willingly went and drank all he wanted, but as soon as he had done so he turned on Mr. Santsell, knocking him down and began to gore him with his horns. His wife and daughter who had just come home heard his cries and both started for the barn yard. As soon as ever they saw what was going on they hurriedly ran to the barn and got two pitch forks and began prodding the enraged beast's sides and back. Of course this drew his attention from Mr. Santsell, who was still holding on to the rope and ring. The ladies ran into the house and the Mr. in some way got into the pig pen. He was very badly cut up, his collar bone was broken and his arm fractured. Dr. Fisher was called in and attended to the injured man in the most careful way.

To Solve Missions Problem.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov, 11.—The special committee of fifteen, appointed by the last General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States of America, met in its first session at the Denison Hotel this morning. Dr. Withrow, of Chicago, is chairman. The committee is to endeavor to solve the home mission problem of the church, and to report its solution to the next General Assembly. The members of the committee express themselves generally as being of the opinion that a compromise will be made between the national and the State plans of control of the home missions. The State plans is better known as the Indiana plan because it was founded in this State.

Gov. Mount, the Indiana representative on the committee, was one of the three men who originated the plan. The central State's representatives will favor the retention of the Indiana plan, and say that they know a majority of the members of the committee are in sympathy with it. They have fortified themselves with facts and figures taken from the church's reports under the two plans, showing the increased good results that have come from the use of the new plan. The members of the committee believe that an agreement will be reached but the friends of the State plan are firm, and are prepared to make a minority report to the General Assembly in case the "compromise" offered is not satisfactory to them.

On of Two Ways

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine and as such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

CHIEF CAUSE.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort, The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly, set your urine aside for twenty four hours; a sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble, The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kinney, and bladder remedy is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents and one doller. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet. both sent free by mail. Colored Girl Barred from High School.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Nov. 11.—The State Superintendent of Schools has been applied to for the settlement of a color question. Eva James, a bright, fourteen-year-old colored girl, who graduated last year from the grammar school and wanted to enter the High School here, as her certificate allows, has twice been denied admission by Principal E. F. Lewis, on the alleged ground of her color. There are over fifteen pupils in the whole High School department. She was given an order to enter by President Stiles, of the local Board of Education, but this was not honored. The girl's parents have now applied to the State Superintendent.

Hayti Must Pay the Bill.

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—The German warship Gefion is under orders to sail for Port au Prince, Hayti, this month, in order to insist upon redress for the arrest there of Herr Lueders, a German subject and his unlawful imprisonment, for which Count Schwarin, the German minister at Port au Prince, has demanded an indemnity. Lueders was released from prison to avoid further complications, the natives of Port au Prince having threatened to mob the German legation and lynch Lueders.

Absolutely Pure Grape Juice.

Speer's Unfermented Grape Juice is so perfectly divested of all fermenting principle by electricity and fumigation, that if uncorked and half a bottle used and well corked up again immediately and placed upside down in a cool place, it will keep for months; but if allowed to come in contact with the air in a warm temperature it will absorb the fermenting germ from the air and will not keep good, but will ferment and become slightly alcoholic. For sale by druggists.

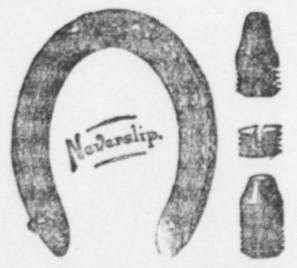
National Endorsement

At a meeting of the National Horseshoers' Association, held in the City of New York, October, 1896.



The merits of the Neverslip Horse Shoe and Calk were carefully considered. After full discussion they decided to adopt them and to recommend them to all blacksmiths.

It was proved that Neverslip Shoes were better than other shoes and wore longer.

It was also proved that Neverslip Calks saved the horseshoer time and money, were better for the horse, saved money for the owner and a step in advance of the old method.

Everybody wants to know how the cost compares with the old method. Go to your blacksmith, have him put on a set of Neverslip Shoes, these will cost no more than the old shoes. Then buy fifty calks, costing from 3 to 4½ cents each, according to size of your horse, one wrench for removing calks, costing one dollar, and you are fitted for the winter.

CONSIDERING the importance of his work and hardships he endured in pursuit of it, there has been singularly little written about the young Swedish explorer, Dr. Sven Hedin. A few months ago he completed a journey of three years and seven months in the most inaccessible and least known parts of Asia. He traversed mountain passes nearly fifteen thousand feet high, in a temperature of nearly forty degrees below zero; he explored and measured a lake nine hundred feet deep; he climbed nearly to the top of an unexplored mountain twenty-five feet high; He traversed the unexplored Taka-Makan Desert, and in doing so went nine days without water, losing all but two of his companions and coming off himself with the merest spark of life. Certainly here is a heroic story scarcely equaled in the annals of travel and exploration; and it has gone thus far practically untold. But Mr. R. H. Sherard has prepared a full account of Dr. Hedin and his discoveries and adventures, based largely on conversations with him, and it will be published in McClure's Magazine for December, along with numerous illustrations from sketches and photographs made by Dr. Hedin himself during his journey.

MR. BRYAN declared that he did not see any evidence of prosperity while in Ohio. Probably the smoke of reopened factories injured his eyesight while in the State.

The rising tide of indignation at the methods of the modern foot ball team will not be overborne by brutal attack or plausible explanation. There may be good in the game when it is properly played, but the trouble with it in America is that it is not properly played. Broken ribs, torn muscles, fractured skulls, dislocated shoulders, fatal accidents are of such frequent occurrence under present methods that parents who have natural affection for their children and who desire that they have an equal chance with others to arrive at manhood, will protest against the softness of the public school and faculties which not only permits but actually encourages such risk to life and limb. In any event the New York Times is entirely correct when it says that "the game is too much played by college students; it takes too much of their time, and enlists a degree of interest and attention altogether disproportionate to its importance in the scheme of man's existence on earth."

REASONS FOR USING

Walter Baker & Co.'s Breakfast Cocoa.

1. Because it is absolutely pure.
2. Because it is not made by the so-called Dutch Process in which chemicals are used.
3. Because beans of the finest quality are used.
4. Because it is made by a method which preserves unimpaired the exquisite natural flavor and odor of the beans.
5. Because it is the most economical, costing less than one cent a cup.

Be sure that you get the genuine article made by WALTER BAKER & CO. Ltd., Dorchester, Mass. Established 1780.

DID the commowealth need the confession of Mrs. Nack to complete the chain of evidence against Martin Thorn, who murdered Guldensuppe, with the consent and doubtless at the instigation of the woman who now details all the horrid particulars and fixes the fate of her accomplice? Of course nobody pities Thorn or regrets his impending execution, but there will be general regret that the woman is not to go with him to the electric chair. There is probably little difference in their guilt, certainly not enough to send her to prison for a score of years while he meets death. Nevertheless this is the peril that confronts every man who engages with another in a criminal deed. There is always the possibility that the more desperate criminal of the company will sell out his pals through fear of the law.

THE business failures in the fourth week in October, 1897, were less than in the corresponding week since the days of Republican prosperity under President Harrison. They numbered in the fourth week of October, 1897, 218, while in the corresponding week of 1896 they were 246; 1895, 299; 1894, 253; 1893 353. Yet, in that very same week, ex-candidate Bryan was throwing up his hat among the country people of Ohio announcing with apparent delight that the business failures of the first six months of the McKinley administration were more numerous than the corresponding months of the proceeding year.

$400,000,000 is a good deal of money to be sent out of the country every year for farm products which our own farmers could supply. Secretary Wilson estimates that nearly this sum was paid out last year by the people of this country for products of agriculture which might have been supplied by our own farmers, if they would properly study public demands and vary their productions with this in mind. Mr. Wilson is proving himself the most practical man that has been placed at the head of the Department of Agriculture in many years. His effort to induce the farmers of the country to experiment with and begin the practical production of beet sugar is in marked contrast with that of Secretary Morton under the last administration.

Pays Only the One License.

Deputy Auditor Reeder in an opinion advises the auditor general that when the proprietor of an opera house and similar places of amusement have paid the license fixed by the act of June 24, 1895, he is not legally bound to pay anything further in the way of treasurer's fees to a mercantile appraiser.

SOME MORE PROOF.

If There is Anything in Bellefonte Endorsation You Get it Here.

Our readers are not asked to believe the following until thoroughly investigated. This can easily be done. It does not necessitate the usual questioning that attends the perusal of newspaper statements when made as they are by people living one hundred miles away from Bellefonte. There can be no doubt as to the reliability. It has appeared in Bellefonte papers a dozen times during the past year and it would have been instantly contradicted unless true, Read this:

Mr. George Gross, of Water street, says: "Some two years ago or more I used Doan's Kidney Pills for backache. I procured them from the Bush Block drug store. Accompanying the pains in my back was an annoyance from the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me after I had been troubled for years. I thought I was never going to have back ache again, but recently I was fishing and got soaked through and this ended in affecting my back. I again resorted to my old cure, Doan's Kidney Pills, and they did me good immediately, although in the meantime I had taken other remedies but without obtaining relief. I can as conscientiously recommend Doan's Kidney Pills now as I did formerly for back ache or kidney trouble."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

from Our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, Nov. 15th, 1897.

Senators and Representatives already in Washington are discussing with much interest the probable length of the coming session of Congress. The hope is general that the session will depend entirely upon circumstances. If no financial legislation is attempted, it will be comparatively easy to complete the business of the session by the first of June, possibly as early as the first of May, as no time will have to be lost in organizing and selecting the House Committee, as is usual at the beginning of the long session; but if financial legislation in the Senate, everybody may as well make up their minds to an extended siege with probable failure in the end. Knowing the situation in the Senate, many republicans favor letting financial legislation alone until it is certain that something can be accomplished. They argue that the agitation that would necessarily accompany an attempt to legislate on the subject would hurt business and could do no good.

It is thought by those who ought to know that the President's action in issuing a proclamation exempting Mexican vessels in ballast and steam vessels from the payment of tonnage duties usually imposed upon foreign vessels in our ports, will give American coal complete control of the Mexican market. It was an act of reciprocity, as Mexico makes the same exemption in favor of our vessels.

The probable choice of the republican majority of the Maryland legislature of a successor to Senator Gorman continues to figure largely in political conversation in Washington. Owing to the number of eligibles, there are wide differences of opinion as to who will be chosen. The legislature meets on the first Wednesday in January, but it is probable that the republican caucus will nominate a Senator a day or two before. As thirty-four votes will be a majority of the caucus, and Baltimore will have twenty one of them, it would seem that Baltimore can easily name the man if its votes can be kept together, but that "if" has already assumed formidable proportions.

It is not thought likely that the conferences now going on between Hon. John A. Kasson, Special Commissioner representing the U. S., and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier of the Canadian government, will result in the speedy negotiation of a treaty of reciprocity between the U. S. and Canada, although that may be the ultimate result. The present conferences are expected to define the positions of each government, and, of course, each will wish to get the most it can for its citizens, regardless of the interests of the other. Later negotiation with Great Britain' representative—Canada cannot negotiate a treaty—will determine whether the give and take spirit is mutual enough to result in a reciprocity treaty. Secretary Wilson will oppose any reduction in the duties on any Canadian agricultural products which compete with those of our own farmers. The Canadian officials and the ladies who are with them are receiving many social courtesies. Dinners have been given them by the President, Secretary sherman and Ex-Secretary Foster.

Postmaster General Gary has been highly commended for his action in issuing a fraud order against John Wedderburn, John Wedderburn & Co., and the National Recorder, their paper, but he regards it as having been merely the performance of duty to protect the public from frauds who make use of the mails. Evidence even stronger than that which brought about the recent disbarrment from practice before the Patent Office of Wedderburn, for fraud, was brought out at the Post Office hearing. All mail matter addressed either to John Wedderburn, John Wedderburn & Co., or the National Recorder will be stamped "fraudulent" and returned to the writers. Newspapers which continue to print Wedderburn & Co's. advertisement may find themselves called to book by the Post Office authorities.

Chairman Cannon, of the House Appropriations Committee, doesn't intend that the work of his committee shall furnish any excuse for lengthening the coming session of Congress. He has announced all of the sub-committees and notified the members to report for work on appropriation bills in their charge on the 27th inst., more than a week ahead of the assembling of Congress.

As President McKinley has never had a doubt that the Senate would ratify the treaty for the annexation of Hawaii, he was not surprised at the publication of a trustworthy poll of the Senate showing that more than the required two thirds of the Senate had stated their intention to vote for ratification, The only thing that can make trouble in this connection will be for the handfull of Senators who are opposed to ratification to take advantage of the absence of a cloture rule in the Senate and stave off a vote indefinitely by talking against time whenever the treaty is taken up.

On Face and Hands

Terrible Itching Sores Break Out, Preventing Rest Night or Day—How Relief Was Found.

"I have been troubled for many years with itching sores on my face and hands. I could not rest night or day and the medicine I took did not relieve me, although I tried everything I could hear of. My husband one day got me a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began taking it with the very best results. I have taken seven bottles and am now cured." MRS. JAMES MCLAIN, Mount Arlington, N. J.

"Last winter I broke out with sores on my face. They were as large as a five cent piece. I heard people say so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla that I determined to try it. In a week after I began taking it the sores commenced to heal, and in a short time they were entirely cured." ARTHUR G. TUNISON, Karrsville, N. J.

A Battle With Rats.

Robert Crocker, a farmer living near Sharon, caught over 200 rats in his granery patent device. He put in a rat terrier to kill them, but the dog refused to attack them. Crocker then went in with a club and closed the door. When he had killed about a dozen they turned on him, biting him on the legs and arms in over 100 places. He tried to escape, but the door had a spring lock and he was unable to get out. When found some time later he was unconscious, his face was nearly eaten away.

MR. BRYAN'S Ohio speeches showed that he is still joined to his idols despite the fact that everybody else is abandoning them.

AS TO RECIPROCITY.

There Seems Various Ways of Looking at the Subject.

A TASK FOR THE GOVERNMENT

Without Allowing His Name to Be Blazoned a Government Official Gives His Views on the Subject.

HE MAKES SOME ILLUSTRATIONS

WASHINGTON, November 15,—The attitude of the administration towards the subject of reciprocity with Canada is probably disclosed in the following statement of a government official:

"The task of the government would be easier if the statesmen in congress would be controlled by the interests of the country at large. Some of them unfortunately confine their views to a particular concession to be obtained from a foreign country for a local interest, and then desire our compensatory concession to be made, not by their own, but by some other locality. They make of reciprocity a series of questions to be settled in the interest of the particular districts. We may be able to secure arrangements which will add millions to our national export trade; and yet it might be defeated by a combination of a few minor local interests not amounting to a million. Yet reciprocity means mutual concession. Without this nothing can be accomplished. We must give a market if we acquire one. Not necessarily a free market, but an accessible market. Take coal for an illustration. By giving access to New England coast we might gain access, perhaps control, in the coal market of all Central Canada, with mutual advantages by reason of geographical and transport conditions, Would it be wise for coal producers to antagonize these natural conditions? It is the same with other articles of commerce where long water transportation is balanced against short railway carriage. In some things we can acquire an almost exclusive market, greatly increasing our exports in exchange for a market open only to the competition of the other party. So it is with some phases of the question of logs and coarse lumber against manufactures of wood. Whenever we enlarge the market of manufactures we inevitably enlarge the demand for our raw material from which they are made and this tends to increase the price paid to the original producer. The advantages of increased trade are widely distributed. In the major portion of commercial exchange this country is in the exceptional condition of producing a surplus, both of raw material and manufactured products. Our police must take into view this situation, although it increases our difficulty in negotiations, which shall satisfy every interest. All that can be hoped for is a result which in the aggregate shall be clearly advantageous to the nation as a unit. All producers are also consumers and they often gain on one side as much as they lose on the other."

Mifflinburg Man Attacked.

Harry Ginsburg, a peddler, who keeps a small store at Mifflinburg, was nearly killed by highway men near that place Saturday. He was on his way home from one of his trips. While in the Penn's valley narrows he was held up by three masked men, each carrying a Winchester rifle. While one of the men held his horse the other two dragged him from his wagon. They beat him so badly that he became unconscious. While they were in the act of going through his clothing they were scared away by travelers through the narrows Ginsburg had a large sum of money on his person, but it was not discovered.

She Became Stage Struck.

SYRACUSE N. Y., November 15.—Katherine Steadman who committed suicide in New York last evening is the daughter of Peter Kelson, of this city and the wife of William J. Steadman, a driver in the employ of the American Express company, She was married to Steadman, who was then janitor of the Wieting opera house, about seven years ago. At Work Again.

A few applications of Salvation Oil will readily cure sprains and bruises, and heal cuts, burns and scalds. It is undoubtedly the best pain-cure on the market, and should be, ready for use, in every home in the land. Mr. Frank Stubenhaver 1337 Elm St., Dubuque, Iowa, states: "I used Salvation Oil on a sprained elbow, which threatened to prevent me from working, and after several thorough rubbings, I awoke the very next morning much relieved and able to go to work. Had I not used Salvation Oil I certainly would have lost a week's work, which would have amounted to many times the cost of a bottle of Oil. Everybody should keep Salvation Oil in the house." It is sold everywhere for only 25 cents.

It is Thought by Many when the Creator said to woman "in sorrow shalt thou bring forth children," that a curse was pronounced, but the joy felt by every Mother when she first presses to her heart her babe, proves the contrary.

Danger and suffering lurk in the pathway of the Expectant Mother, and should be avoided, that she may reach the hour when the hope of her heart is to be realized, in full vigor and strength.

An Awful Ride To Death.

Hastings, Nov. 13,—A terrible race occurred last evening near Patton between two sections of a loaded freight train on the Beech Creek extension of the Cambria County railroad. Engineer Wm. Gray stuck to his engine and died beneath it when the crash came.

Gray was bringing the train of 35 cars down the heavy grade from Carrolltown, which is one of the crookedest and steepest grades in the state, when his train broke, leaving ten cars in the rear. Seeing the runaway section of the train gaining on him a fearful speed he turned on full steam to try to keep out of the way, when he lost control of his own train and came down the hill with frightful velocity. The fireman and brakeman jumped off, but Engineer Gray stuck to his post. When the train went dashing into an open switch at Patton he was buried under the wreck of his engine. Twenty-two cars were demolished.

Further fusion between Populism and Democracy grows more unpopular in the South as the months pass. Congressman Howard, of Alabama, a prominent member of the Populist party, said in a recent interview in Cincinnati: "It will be impossible to get the support of our party for Mr. Bryan again. Populists will not be drawn into the support of Democratic candidates. We have been betrayed by the Democrats, and it will be impossible for them to use our party again in a national election."

A WHOLE MAN.

A whole man is another name for a healthy man. One of the prime essentials of health is cleanliness. The first step in this direction is a clean skin. This fact is well known. Not only should the outside of the body be perfectly clean, but the interior of the body as well. Clean teeth, clean mouth, clean throat, clean nasal passages, are all requisites of perfect health. The whole body, as well as every organ in the body, is lined with mucous membrane, which is even more liable than the skin to become very dirty. The most frequent cause of unclean mucous membrane is catarrh. Catarrh creates unnatural secretions, even though the catarrh be very slight. In this condition good health is impossible.

Dr. Hartman has made a specialty of treating chronic catarrh for nearly 40 years. His great remedy (Peru-na) has become known throughout the United States and Canada. It is certainly the best, and probably the only effective internal remedy for chronic catarrh. Its cures are permant. The Doctor is also the author of many books on chronic catarrh. His latest book on the subject will be sent free for a short time by The Pe ru-na Drug M'f'g Co., Columbus, O.

Forger and Swindler.

A clever forgery was perpetrated on the proprietor of the Armstrong hotel at Johnsonburg recently and the owners of a clothing house in that town suffered in consequence. A well dressed man stopped at the hotel as a guest and during the day asked for some hotel stationery. He filled out one of the sheets, bearing the business address of the hotel, signed the order with the proprietor's name, and presented the order for some clothing at one of the stores. The desired goods were given the swindler, as the hotel proprietor had been in the habit of presenting similar orders, and the merchant was not suspicious of the bogus order. Later in the day the deception was discovered and the police officers notified. A description of the man was given, but he succeeded in escaping with the goods and as yet has not been intercepted.

Out in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., November 15.—The senate has seventeen known republican members, according to the official count; eighteen known democrats and one fusion republican elected on the democractic ticket in Cincinnati. Total 36. The house has fifty-six known republican members, forty-seven known democrats and four fusion republicans elected on the democratic ticket in Cincinnati. Total 109. On joint ballot the republicans have five majority. If they get the fusion republicans the majority will be eleven. Of the known republicans, three have declined to say how they will vote for United States senator.

The Hanna men claim all of the other known republicans, which, if the claim is well founded, would give Mr. Hanna a majority of two on joint ballot.

Nothing succeeds like success, is a maxim well applied to Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, for this famous remedy succeeds in curing every case of croup, cough and cold which it undertakes, and to this alone is due its wonderful popularity. I have also found it efficacious in extreme membraneous croup, and would advise all mothers to use it." Putting Life in Dead Money.

Postmaster-General Gary is a man of wealth. He has been a director of a Baltimore savings bank for more than twenty-five years, yet that fact does not deter him from giving his hearty support to the agitation for postal savings banks. He does not fear that the government institutions would interfere with his business, On the contrary, his knowledge of the benefits of savings banks, based on his experience in connection with the Baltimore institution of which he is a director, has made him the more enthusiastic advocate of postal savings banks.

Postmaster-General Gary makes some remarkable statements concerning the value of postal savings banks in bringing into circulation hoarded money. He says:

"Postal savings banks would put the breath of life into the dead money of the United States. Have you ever thought what a dead thing money is when it is not in use? It is the deadest thing in the universe. There are many millions of such dead money in the country. It is hoarded away in stockings, buried under the hearthstones, tucked away behind the rafters and planted here and there in the earth, because the owners have no faith in private savings institutions. They have faith in the goverment, and they would bring the money out and deposit it in the postal savings banks, As to how much of such money there is in the country, you can guess just as well as I can. I have asked a number of men what they think the average of hoarded money would amount to per capita. Some have estimated that it would be $10, others $15, and some less. Suppose, for instance, it was $5 per capita. This would make the enormous sum of $350,000,000. I don t believe it would be less than that, though I would not like to prophesy. Such hoards are usually greater than is supposed. Some of them amount to hundreds and some thousands of dollars."

Those who object to postal savings banks for fear they would gather up the small savings of a community for transmission to Washington, thus depriving that community of some of its loanable wealth should take notice of the compensating feature of bringing into circulation the hoarded money of the country. Money sent to Washington, much of which will come from hiding places, will not be hoarded in the treasury vaults. It will be invested and made to draw interest, and will hereby be added to the circulation of the country. It will be transformed from idle into active wealth. To use the the words of the postmaster-general the postal savings banks will indeed put life into dead money.—Chicago Record.

Immense Coal Deposits.

Few persons, except those immediately connected with the work, have any intelligent idea of the amount of coal that has been dredged from Green's dam, above Duncannon, within the past few years. During the year 1895 about 4,000 tons were taken out; in 1896, 7,000 were taken out, and this year over 13,000—in all about 25,000 tons have been placed on the market within the past three years. The deposit as yet seems unlimited. The above figures were given by one connected with the work. The coal, of course, had been washed down from the mines above. Much of this coal is being used in that vicinity and farther up the valley.

A Party of Americans Supposed to Have Been Murdered.

THEY WERE COLLECTING SHELLS

Had a Special Permit from the Mexican Government—Most Remarkable Tribe of Indians on an Island, Etc.

NEWS CONCERNING THEIR HABITS

WASHINGTON, November 16.—United States Consul Hugh Long, at Nongales, Mexico, has furnished the state department particulars of the supposed murder of a party of Americans, headed by Captain Porter, by the Seris Indians on Tiburon island, in the Gulf of California. According to the statement made to the Mexican customs officials by Martin Mendez, master of the sloop "Otila," Captain Porter sailed from San Diego, Cal., with his companions in a small boat to engage in collecting shells. They left the port of Guayamas, August 9, under special permission from the Mexican government to explore the shores and islands of the gulf.

The consul says the island of Tiburon is one of the largest and most picturesque in the Gulf of California, and is peopled by a most remarkable tribe of Indians who are noted for their large size and extraordinary athletics on land and water. Those who have witnessed their aquatic sports at a respectful distance declare that many of them can actually walk, or rather run upon the water, with no other assistance than broad raw hide shoes. They are, writes the consul, expert fisherman and huntsmen, having rigid ideas as to the maintenance of game preserves on their island and limiting the killing of game under severe penalties. They destroy all children in infantry that are malformed or appear to be lacking in intelligence. In this way the standard of physical and mental conditions in both sexes is kept very high.

It is currently believed that at one time the native women were exterminated to make room for a whiter and superior race of women. The nucleus of this race of higher women was formed from captives made at various times, extending over a series of years on land and water. They have no schools, but each home has a system of physical training. The natives guard ethir shores day and night, and no man is allowed to penetrate the island even if he should make a landing.

It is said that no epidemics have ever prevailed on the island and disease is scarcely known among this extraordinary people, so that the men and women are magnificent in their physical endowment. No man or woman is allowed to live beyond the age of 70 years, no matter how well preserved in body and mind. By careful selection a large percentage of the women have a transparent, peachy complexion and deep auburn hair.

Nothing seems to please the politicians of the Bryan stripe so much as calamity of whatever nature. Ex-candidate Bryan in his speech at Newark, Ohio, the other day; triumphantly pointed out the fact that wheat, which passed the dollar line in August and September, dropped ten cents a bushel after doing so and suggested that the Republican party had not been able to keep wheat at a dollar a bushel. Curiously wheat had again passed the dollar line, two or three days prior to this statement of Mr. Bryan, who apparently thought that his hearers were not posted on wheat prices.

The total value of the agricultural products of Kansas for 1897, according to the report of the Board of Agriculture of that State, is $176,000,000, the largest in the present decade.

"Uncle Hod" Boies cannot be kept still. All of the threats and persuasions of his Democratic associates will not induce him to any longer support the free-coinage proposition of the Democratic platform of last year. He is out in a new and vigorous communication in which he says that while he wants to see silver used as currency, he is satisfied that the proposition for its free and unlimited coinage at a ratio so different from the commercial ratio would be not only injudicious, but fatal.

MRS. NACK CONFESSES.

To Save Her Life the Greatest Criminal "Peaches."

TELLS ALL ABOUT THE MURDER

To Save Herself She Goes Into Court and Makes a Confession Which Shows Her to Be the Worst of the Two.

SEVERAL DRAMATIC SCENES GIVEN

NEW YORK, November 10.—There was an extraordinary turn of affairs to-day in the Thorn murder trial in Long Island City. Mrs. Augusta Nack, who was indicted together with her erstwhile paramour, Martin Thorn, for the murder of her former lover, William Guldensuppe, for whom she deserted her legal husband, appeared in the role of a state's witness against Thorn to the consternation of the latter's lawyers. For several weeks rumors have been current that both Thorn and Mrs. Nack were striving to gain a remission of a possible capital sentence by giving sufficient information to the reports of the people for the conviction of the other. Despite these rumors the legal reports of the man and women have strenuously denied that either of the prisoners was inclined to turn informer.

Late last night William F. Howe, Thorn's counsel, was awakened by a messenger boy, who brought to him the message that Mrs. Augusta Nack had made a full confession, implicating Martin Thorn as the murderer of Guldensuppe, and that through her legal adviser, she had offered to turn state's evidence against her former lover.

When District Attorney Young arrived in court this morning he refused to give any information regarding Mrs. Nack's confession. A few minutes after Mr. Young's arrival, Emanuel Friend, Mrs. Nack's counsel, put in an appearance, and he volunteered the information that Mrs. Nack had made a full confession and would be put on the stand as soon as the court opened. During all this time Martin Thorn was below in a cell at the back of the court house without the slightest warning of his impending danger. As soon as he arrived in the court room he was informed by his counsel of the action that Mrs. Nack had taken and just for a moment his face flushed, and with eyebrows contracted and lips compressed he showed for the first time since his arrest that he was in any way pertured. He soon regained his composure, however, and while he leaned forward and spoke to his lawyers Mrs. Nack entered the court room accompanied by her lawyer and a deputy sheriff. The woman passed close to Thorn on her way to the district attorney's table, which was only three feet away from where Thorn was sitting. But while he carefully kept track of her every movement she avoided looking at him. The jurors at the time did not know who the woman was, and were ignorant of the fact that Mrs Nack had made a confession and was so close to them. A minute later a court clerk called her name, saying: "Mrs. Augusta Nack, take the stand." Every man of the twelve in the jury box heard the name called, and each one of them were started when he saw the woman turn away her head from the prisoner, whose eyes followed her as she walked around the back of the jury box and took a seat in the witness chair, For two hours and forty minutes she remained there, the cynosure of all eyes, while she told the terrible story of how she lured Guldensuppe to his death and in telling the tale she knew full well that she was bringing her paramour to the electric chair. Frequently their eyes met, but the woman was not equal to that occasion and she had always had to turn away from Thorn's steadfast gaze. When she was asked why she had confessed, she replied that she wished to clear her conscience and then burst into tears. But when Lawyer Howe began his cross examination he handled her unsparingly and made her own up to such acts of premeditation that the majority of those who heard her admissions said that she was the greatest culprit and many of those who had previously evinced a decided antipathy to Thorn swerved around and pitied him.

The remainder of the afternoon was taken up by bath rubbers who had worked alongside of the murdered man in the Murray Hill baths. One of them was Guldensuppe's nephew, and he, as well as the others, positively identified the portions of the mutilated and headless body which had been picked up within a week after the awful crime had been committed. The people, through the prosecutor, produced one expert witness, Coroner Tuthill of New York. He described the different portions of the body which were brought to the morgue and proven conclusively that they belonged to the same person.

Increased Tonnage.

The statement of the coal tonnage over the Tyrone division for last week shows an increase of 10,997 tons in comparison with the same time last year. The coal shipped over this road thus far in 1897 amounts to 1,931,568 tons.

How does the above strike the calamity editor of the Democrat.

Identity of a High Mason.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 8.—For a week or more the authorities and the Masons of this city have been trying to find out something regarding the identity of a thirty-third degree Mason, who came here from New York last Friday a week and drowned himself. He gave his name on the boat and at the hotels here as H. Johnson.

To-day Mrs. Miller, the wife of Corp. Miller, of the United States garrison on Sullivan's Island, after reading a description of the dead man, expressed confidence that she had talked with him on the trip down from New York. She says he told her his name was William Stevenson and that his home was in Newark, N. J. He also intimated to her more than once that he proposed to take his own life.

The authorities have sent dispatches to Newark to the father of Stevenson, with a view to verifying Mrs. Miller's supposition.

A Piece of Parchment

When unwritten on, is not more colorless than the cadaverous countenances of those unfortunate persons whom we are accustomed to call "confirmed invalids," What a misnomer! implying, too, despair, a giving up for lost! As long as the vivifying power of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters can be felt, and that is possible so long as there is no absolute collapse of the faculties, fresh vitality can be infused into wasted, feeble frames, color and flesh can be brought back to wasted, pallid cheeks with this grand sheet anchor of the debilitated and the sickly. It is a tonic of the greatest potency and the utmost of the purity, and a remedy for and preventive of dyspepsia, bilious, malarious rheumatic, nervous and kidney complaints Appetite and sleep are greatly aided by it; it counteracts the effects of under fatigue, or excitement, and nullifies the often perilous consequences of exposure in inclement weather or damp clothing.

Speech Restored by Fright.

PHILIPSBURG, N. J., Nov. 10.—There is joy in the family of David Johnson, a poor track walker for the Lehigh Valley railroad. Three years ago his son, Samuel, then eight years old, was operated on by a surgeon. The child was so terribly frightened that after screaming himself into exhaustion it was found that he could neither speak nor hear. His hearing returned in a few days but he was dumb until this morning.

He went out into the yard before it was light, saw what he thought was a ghost and ran toward the house. He began screaming. After being quieted he talked. The fright had restored his speech. Last night Mrs. Johnson put a white cloth over a large rose bush. It was this which frightened the child.

New Fiuds Not So Rich.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 10.—The steamer Homer arrived here this afternoon from Juneau, Alaska. Among her passengers was C. C. Burns, who left Dawson City September 23. Burns polled up the Yukon and came out over the Chilkoot trail. Burns stated that when he left Dawson no one had started down the Yukon for provisions. The people were daily expecting boats from St. Michaels. They thought that the boats were delayed by accident and knew nothing of their inability to ascend the stream. Burns said there would be no starvation at Dawson this winter, though rations would be limited with some.

According to Burns, the only new gold discoveries made this year were on Sulphur creek, and that field was not proving as rich as Eldorado or Bonanza creeks. Burns brought down with him about $6,000 in nuggets and dust, the result of two years' work. The Homer also brought out a party of five surveyors, who have been locating and surveying routes across the summit of Lake Lindeman for a Portland company, of which D. H. Ross is at the head. They report that about 100 men are at work on a tramway from Sheep Camp over the Chilkoot trail to Lake Lindeman. The last work of the surveying party was done on the White pass, over which it is proposed to have a tramway in operation by the first of February. Five members of the Canadian mounted police came down from Sheep Camp on the Homer.

HAD A ROUGH TIME.

Everything Does Not Go to the British Over in India.

WAS BAD FOR THE GOVERNMENT

They Made a Reconnoisance in Force but the Tribesman Were Most Aggressive When the March Back Occurred.

THERE WERE MANY CASUALTIES

SIMLA, Nov. 10,—Official dispatches received here to-day from the British camp in the Maidan valley tell of a "reconnaisance" in force by the British which resulted quite seriously to the government forces.

The movement was commanded by Brigadier General Westacott and the British force engaged consisted of the Dorsetshire regiment, the Northamptonshire regiment, a regiment of Sikhs and two batteries of artillery. This column moved yesterday to Saran-Sar and reached the summit of the mountain with little resistence, where it went into camp, but soon after retired upon the main body. This latter movement was attended by serious losses. The insurgent tribesmen followed after the column in strong force, swarming from behind the rocks, showing wonderful audacity and keeping up a heavy fire at short range upon the British troops. Only the admirable disposition made by General Westacott of his troops saved the rear guard. The general personally held the men together and saw all the wounded taken away before he retired himself. On the way back to camp the transport of the wounded was greatly hampered by the fact that the troops had to retire over a fearfully broken country surrounded on all sides by swarms of the enemy's skirmishes. The route was intersected every hundred yards or so by deep ravines, and it was while the troops were engaged in passing through this ground that the tribesmen rushed upon the troops, fearlessly making their way up the ravines to close quarters. The Northamptonshire regiment suffered the most, many casualties being incurred while saving their wounded. All the wounded reached camp at about dark and it is still hoped that a missing officer will reach camp safely.

The loss of the British was about fifty men. Of this number the Northamptonshire regiment lost Lieutenant Waddell and four men killed, and Lieutenant McIntire of this regiment and twelve men are missing. The Northamptonshires had Lieutenant Trent and thirty men wounded. The Dorsetshire regiment had Lieutenant Ingram, Lieutenant Mercer and six men wounded. The Sikhs lost two men killed and had six men wounded.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 10—Up to a late hour to-night Mayor Warwick has not yet signed the bill passed by councils, leasing the city gas works to the United Gas Improvement Company. He intimated, however, that he would do so tomorrow, adding that no injunction proceedings such as those begun yesterday, to have the lease declared illegal, could prevent him from exercising the functions of his office.

Missing Man's Body Found.

George Schmerer, of Johnstown, disappeared from home about two weeks ago and every effort to locate him failed. Yesterday afternoon boys found his body in the Stony Creek river in about three feet of water. It was badly decomposed and almost beyond recognition.

The Editor's Woes.

A New Jersey suburbanite tell this one:—There is an editor in our little town who just for the present wishes he were somewhere else. Desiring to compliment the school teachers of the place and extend the circulation of his newspaper among them, he wrote an elaborate article which he headed, "Pension a Lot of Our School Teachers." He then continued in an eloquent strain to declare that "there are about a dozen of the best known teachers in our schools, who because of their long service in the harness, should be pensioned immediately." Of course the intelligent compositor got in his work, and as the old man failed to read his proof he was horrified to find his paper declaring that there was a lot of old school teachers in that town who ought to be "poisoned" immediately. The editor informs me, with tears in his eyes, that this is one of those unpleasant episodes which occur to an editor now and then.—Hardware.

Judge Jackson's Decision.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 10.—(Special.) The text of the decision of Justice Jackson of West Virginia against the removal of employes from the internal revenue service has been received at the treasury department and is being considered by the law officers of the government. The officials are surprised at the scope of the decision, and Assistant Vanderlip stated to-day, that, according to it, employes of the service became fixtures and are not removable. Mr. Vanderlip stated further that the department did not intend to be governed by the ruling. Just what plan would be adopted he was not prepared to say.

From another source it was ascertained that the department will take an appeal from the decision, and, if necessary, will carry the case up to the supreme court of the United States. Collector Roberts of one of the Kentucky districts was at the department to-day endeavoring to ascertain something about this now famous decision. He is of the opinion that storekeepers and gaugers could not be transferred from one distillery to another without running against the scope of this decision.

When your stomach begins to trouble you, it needs help. The help it needs is to digest your food, and, until it gets it, you won't have any peace. Stomach trouble is very distressing, very obstinate, very dangerous. Many of the most dangerous diseases begin with simple indigestion. The reason is that indigestion (not digestion, not nourishment) weakens the system and allows disease germs to attack it.

The antidote is Shaker Digestive Cordial, strengthening, nourishing, curative. It cures indigestion and renews strength and health. It does this by strengthening the stomach, by helping it to digest your food. It nourishes you. Shaker Digestive Cordial is made of pure herbs, plants and wine, is perfectly harmless and will certainly cure all genuine stomach trouble. Sold by druggists, price 10 cents to $1.00 per bottle.

Dr. Ebenezer Eskine, of Newville, presided, and addresses were made by Dr. George S. Chambers, of Harrisburg; Dr. George Norcross, of Carlisle, on "An Estimate of the Character and Work of John Calvin." A reception followed. Dr. Crawford is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and has been pastor at Milton, Xenia, O,; Brooklyn and Chambersburg, where he now is as pastor emeritus. He is one of the ablest ministers and writers in the church.

A Royal Favorite

The Washington Post goes off into a spasm of indignation because Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, telegraphed congratulations to ex-President Cleveland on the birth of an heir, after clean overlooking ex-President Harrison's little daughter's arrival on this mundane sphere a year or so since. The Post thinks Grover is no better than any other, and a good deal worse than some private citizens, of our country. The fated hour has struck and the golden coach is transformed into a common place pumpkin again and its occupant is clothed in common garb unworthy any special attention. Ex-presidents in our country are like first wife's relations, difficult to dispose of with satisfaction to all parties.

A Fortunate Escape

A BURLINGTON YOUNG LADY TELLS THE STORY OF HER RESCUE.

From the Clipper, Burlington, Vt.

A reporter called upon Miss Lillian Warner at her home, 415 St. Paul Street, Burlington, Vt., and begged the favor of an interview.

The young lady is a musician and a pianist of considerable renown, and has her time fully occupied by engagements to play at concerts and other entertainments that are constantly taking place in the city, and the strain upon the strength and nervous energy of the pianist can be easily imagined.

"I never could have stood it once, but I have something now," said Miss Warner enthusiastically, "that braces me for my work. Some little time ago I was utterly unable to attend to my duties, owing to a disarrangement of the nervous system that effected my eyes with all the rest. They became so weak and troubled me so that I finally went away into the country to rest. The benefit obtained from the change of scene and freedom from care was, however, merely temporary, and upon my return to work I rapidly lost all that I had gained and more."

"But did you consult a doctor?"

"O yes, indeed; I put myself under the care of several doctors, and even tried many remedies recommended for cases like mine, but the medicines had no lasting effect, and it looked as though nervous prostration was to be my portion.

"I was about ready to 'throw physic to the dogs' when I first heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and it was with but small faith in any benefit to be derived from them that I at last made up my mind to try them.

"Hardly had I taken the first box before I experienced a great relief from the weakness and nervous troubles with which I was afflicted, and my eyes grew stronger every day."

"Are you taking the pills now?" was the next query.

"No; as I told you the first box helped me a great deal, and after I had taken six boxes I felt so well that I left off the medicine entirely and have not taken any now for some weeks. I am able to attend to all my duties and feel as well as can be, while my eyes continue to improve right along. I do not even mind the long walk from my home to the business part of the city.

Miss Warner further said that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People build up the system, giving a lasting effect and not merely a fictitious strength for the time being.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature.

These pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade-mark and wrapper at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and are never sold in bulk. They may be had of all druggists.

DANVILLE, ILL.

Long Suffering from Headache Cured by Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine.

HEADACHES are the bane of woman's life. Frequently relieved but seldom permanently cured, the ultimate result is continual misery. Miss Maggie Hannah, 521 Chestnut St., Danville, Ill., says in June 1896: "I cannot add to my testimony of last year except that I am well and strong. Two years ago I had such a pain in my head that I ate nothing, was desperately nervous and could not sleep. Other complications peculiar to my sex set in and our physician called another in consultation. They decided I had consumption and must die. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and the second night obtained the first nights real sleep in four weeks. I know that Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine saved my life.

STATE AND NATIONAL

Tillers of the Soil Meet in the City of Harrisburg.

REPORTS FROM THE MANY STATES

Governor Hastings Talks to the Grangers and Incidently Remarks That the Taxes on Farms Should be Reduced.

A VERY INTERESTING MEETING

HARRISBURG, Pa., November 11.—The national and state granges gave some consideration to reports to-day, but the public reception at the Opera House this afternoon was the feature. This evening the degree of "Ceres" was conferred upon a large number of candidates under the direction of the high priest of Demeter Dr. George A. Bowen, of Connecticut. The ceremonies were exceedingly interesting and impressive, but only members of the fraternity were present.

To-morrow the delegates and officers of the national grange will be the guests of the state grange on a trip to the Gettysburg battlefield. For this reason there will be no morning or afternoon session. It is expected that the state grange will adjourn to-morrow night.

At the sessions of the national grange to-day the reports of the state masters were continued. Ohio reported thirty-two granges revived, nineteen new granges organized, making a total increase of fifty-one during the year, 400 live granges in the state with an average of fifty members to the grange,

Colorado reported the granges prosperous and much business going on among the farmers, who gathered this year the largest harvests in the history of the state.

Massachusetts reported prosperity in grange ranks notwithstanding dull times and general business depression. There are 140 granges in the state with but two weak ones in the number. Total membership in the state over 13,000.

New Hampshire reports a year of large prosperity, Eleven new granges, with 1,500 new members, and the entire state shows 228 granges, with a total membership over 21,000

Oregon reported all the granges in a prosperous condition and that the organization is being rapidly extended to all parts of the state, Harvests were good.

Rhode Island reported education of the grange order in that state which enjoys excellent prospects for increased strength and influence.

The public reception at the opera house was an imposing event. Governor Hastings was the chief speaker. The order of exercises was as follows: Music, prayer, W. T. Eberson, of Erie; welcome on behalf of the state grange of Pennsylvania, Leonard Rhone, master of the state grange; response on behalf of the national grange, Aaron Jones, overseer of the national grange; welcome on behalf of Pennsylvania, Governor Hastings, response on behalf of the grange, Alpha Messer, lecturer of the national grange; welcome on behalf of the city of Harrisburg, Meade D. Detweiler; response on behalf of the grange H. C. Deveyet, master of the state grange of Maryland; music; welcome on behalf of the agricultural department of the state, Deputy Secretary of Agriculture John Hamilton; response by J. H. Brigham, assistant secretary United States department of agriculture; welcome on behalf of the sisters of the grange, Helen S. Johnson, worthy ceres, Pennsylvania state grange; response by Sister Sarah Baird, master of the state grange of Minnesota; welcome on behalf of veterans and imilitary associations of the state. Forestry Commissioner Rothrock, response by S. L. Wilson, master state grange of Mississippi music.

Dangerously Close.

David Heisel, of near Blanchard, aged about 16, was brought to the hospital, Lock Haven, Tuesday morning. Several days ago, while on a hunting trip, the gun exploded when he pulled the trigger. The load flew upward and abraded the skin on the forehead. The one eye was filled with grains of powder. The hospital physicians rendered the necessary attention.—Lock Haven Democrat

IN CUPIDS NET.

Fred J. Baker of Auburn Wash., Weds Miss Annie Furley Formerly of Bellefonte.

The many friends in Bellefonte of Miss Annie Furley, step-daughter of E. C, Humes, Jr., of this place, will be interested to learn the facts regarding her marriage to Mr. Fred J, Baker, of Auburn, Washington, which occured in the latter named city. We are indebted for the following account of the wedding to the Auburn Argus, a copy of which we received Friday morning.

"Cupid has again been busy and the result of his maneuvers is the announcement published above. To say that the groom's friends were surprised when the report of his marriage was current upon the streets is expressing it mildly; for even his most intimate friends imagined that he was heart-whole and fancy free. But cupid's ways are mysterious and devious—beyond the comprehension of many people—and that he is a skilled marksman is amply illustrated for in this instance, he pulled a dart from his quiver, placed it in his bow, took careful aim and shot it clear across the continent with telling effect,

The ceremony occurred Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the pretty home of Mr, and Mrs. F. H. Baker in Auburn; and the solemn words that bound the happy twain were uttered by Rev. Sample, D. D., pastor of the Presbyterian Church, in the presence of the father, mother and sisters of the groom, all of whom have known the happy bride from her childhood. The ceremony over, congratulations were tendered and accepted and the sumptuous wedding feast was discussed to the satisfaction of all and amid the merry banter of the family circle.

"The bride, Miss Furley, is a stranger in this community, having but recently arrived from Bellefonte, Pennsylvania, but she appears to be a bright; agreeable and refined young lady, who would make a desirable and charming life's companion for the young man who has been fortunate to secure her. Her relatives in the east are said to be wealthy and among the leaders in social circles in their community.

"Mr. Baker, the groom, is well known in this city and vicinity. He is an industrious young man of exemplary habits and is popular with everybody. Unquestionably the entire community joins with the Argus in extending hearty congratulations and well-wishes to the newly wedded pair.

For the present Mr. and Mrs. Baker will reside in Auburn, but we understand that they will eventually remove to California."

Death of An Infant Child.

James Douglas Woodson, the infant son of Rev. C. N. Woodson, pastor of the A. M. E. church, died at the home of his parents on Ridge street, Thursday evening at quarter of nine. The cause of its death was whooping cough. He was born on the 21s tof June 1897 and was therefore 4 months and 21 days old. The funeral took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house. Rev. Alexander Smothers, of Tyrone conducted the services.

Death of a Recluse.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Charles Pearcy, who for fifteen years lived alone in a room at 224 West Madison street, died to-day. He lived the life of a recluse. At times he did his own cooking; sometimes he ate in the cheap restaurants. He never did any work. He made no friends and he bothered no one. All he asked was to be let alone. He came from Virginia. An investigation of his room after his death shows that he was wealthy. Government bonds, money in small amounts, two watches, a memoranda showing deposits in various banks to the amount of $1,000 and other valuables were found. The total amount of his wealth is estimated at between $35,000 and $40,000.

UNKNOWN MAN'S BONES.

Found Lying on the Ridge Near Huntingdon on Monday.

Last August a year ago, Mrs. George Long reported finding the body of a man on Warriorridge. Coroner Greenburg and a party started in search, but failed to find the body. Yesterday morning two boys, while roaming on the ridge, discovered the bones of a human being under a ledge of rocks, about 150 yards above the railroad track, a short distance west of town. The boys reported the fact to the coroner, who found the bones of a man who had evidently been lying in the position as described by Mrs. Long when she discovered him fifteen months ago. His skull was found resting on his shoes, one arm at his head and the other at his side. Some of the bones of his legs were found a short distance away. The remains were brought to town and interred.

The deceased, it is believed, wandered up the side of the ridge from the railroad track and died from some cause unknown. There were no holes or abrasions in his skull.

He was apparently about 35 years old, five and one-half feet high, had a set of good teeth and was well dressed. He wore a black diagonal coat, dark blue pantaloons, black Fedora hat, blue shirt, with white stripes, white loose woven underclothing, black cotton stockings and lace pointed shoes. Nothing was found in his pockets but a comb, knife, small looking glass, lead pencil, calico shirt and necktie.

Coroner Greenburg made a thorough examination of the clothing to-day and found a shipping tag in his hip pocket on which was printed "From the Wilmore Carriage Works, Tyrone, Pa." Coroner Greenburg went to the place on the ridge where the bones were discovered yesterday and found a small board about fifteen inches long and six inches wide, on which were cut the initials "A. N.," and near by was a teaspoon that had been stuck in the crevice of the rock. It is supposed the letters were cut by the unfortunate man, and that they were the initials of his name. The finding of the teaspoon leads to the belief that the man took sick and had taken some medicine, but died.—Huntingdon Daily Local News, Nov. 9.

South Needs Postal Banks.

Ernest G. DeLong of Tarpon Springs, Fla., writes to the Chicago Record as follows:

"Should postal savings banks be established I fully believe that 20 per cent of the negro women of the south would become depositors within a year. This would have a better effect upon the character of the African race than all other reforms thus far spoken of. It would give them an aim in life in which all could take part. It would protect them from unprincipled sharpers, both white and black. My experience is that the colored people have implicit confidence in the government, and none whatever in anything else, when it comes to money matters. One with a savings bank account, no matter how small, would be a better citizen in every respect. It would start depositors on a road to usefulness in a right direction, encourage industry and discourage gambling. Above all else would be the moral effect. It would do more than the most stringent laws to prevent crime, because it would be a great incentive for the preserving of their identity, As it is now, one name and one locality is just the same as another, and it is very common for the negroes to change their names every time they change their names every time they change their location and that makes it very easy for them to dodge the law; much more so than the white man, because it takes years of experience for a northern man to tell one negro from another and the south is fast filling up with northern people, of whom I am one. It behooves us all in our own interest, as well as that of humanity, to improve the condition of the blacks, and I know of nothing that would do it so well as a moneyed interest in the government."

AS VIEWED BY A BANKER.

Postal Saving Banks Would Benefit the People Very Materially.

P. F. Brown, president of the Galesburg national bank of Galesburg, Ill., had the following to say recently in favor of postal savings banks:

"Yes, I believe in postal savings banks. There is a need in our country—yes, an absolute necessity—that people should be taught to make a judicious use of their earnings; in other words, taught to save money. This, like all other education, should begin with the young. The postal system would help in this, as it would be in the reach of all and would afford any one, even the small children, an opportunity to make a beginning in saving something. It should be started on a plan that will gather the waste money that now never sees a bank. In this way the penny is cared for until it gets enough added to it to make a dollar, and from this it grows on until it reaches a judicious investment—a homestead and loan association, a lot or a home started, or something to which the owner attaches a value. Then this person begins to become something. Here ends our anarchist and socialist and government ownership, which so many are to-day advocating and of which so many are afraid. The secret of saving is to make a beginning. When this beginning is made then there arrives something better in the individual. The saving must be used, invested, set to work. Out of this grows the business habit, and out of this habit the man who develops and becomes capable of managing it. Now, it seems to me as a means to this end all auxiliaries we can advise that are just and honorable should be used. Doings things is contagious, and if this movement was once universal and became a popular movement all would move more in that direction and in time might become a national characteristic.

"No; it is my opinion banks and bankers as a rule are not opposed to the postal bank system, and it is my opinion the system in time would become an adjunct of banking and business, just as in church the Sunday school is a help to the church—not a competitor. We should take a broad view of these things, not a selfish one. Selfishness hurts the self in business as well as in morals. Yes, for one you may put me down for postal savings banks and, as I said before, when the time comes you will find banks are not, as a rule, opposed to them, as they will recognize in them an adjunct of business of all kinds, and it is out of increased business that banks grow and prosper."—Chicago Record.

Seats and Sitters in Church.

The statement has recently been made that if every qualified churchgoer in the United States should take a notion to attend church on the same day and hour only one-fourth could find seats.

But there is no foundation for this assertion in the figures of the eleventh census of the United States. Here the number of church sittings is stated to make a grand total of 46,000,000 at any hour of public worship, on the basis of a population of 65,000,000. Moreover there must be a great multitude of people who on account of various disabilities could not attend church if they wished to.

Everybody in the United States able to sit in a church understandingly could therefore be accommodated at any one hour in the year and still leave about one-third of all the pews empty.

Unfortunately the trouble in a good many churches is not for want of sittings, but for want of sitters to occupy them.—Boston Globe.

Grover's Son's Named.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 10—The Princeton collegians were greatly disappointed when it became known to-day that Grover Cleveland's son is to be named Richard Folsom Cleveland. They had given the young man the name of Grover Cleveland Jr., on the day of his birth, and hoped it would stick to him. The name decided upon is given in honor of Mrs. Cleveland's father.

AFTER A MURDERER.

If This Man Is Caught There Will Be Some Trouble.

THE ASSAULT ON AN OLD FARMER

He Now Lies Dying at His Home, But His Daughter, Who Went to His Rescue and Was Shot, Will Certainly Recover.

OFFICERS LOOKING FOR A SUSPECT

CANTON, N. Y., November 11.—Asa Briggs, the 83-year old farmer of Hannawa Falls, nine miles from here, who was brutally shot by a masked man last night, is still alive to-day, but has no chance of recovery. His daughter, who was shot in attempting to protect her father, is in no danger of death. Intense excitement prevails hereabouts. Threats of lynching are made and a posse of armed men are scouring the country for traces of the assassin. About 7 o'clock last night Farmer Briggs was in his sitting room with his daughter and her 13-year old son. The farm hands were at the barn, milking. A knock was heard at the door. Briggs's grandson answered it. A man with the lower part of his face masked, rushed in. He brandished a revolver in his hand. The boy ran out through the back door crying "Robbers!" at the top of his voice. The masked man went into the sitting room. Briggs's daughter stood in front of her father, who has been suffering from a stroke of partial paralysis the past three weeks. The masked man shot the daughter through the arm. She cried out with pain and the old man behind her gathered his strength and pushed himself from his chair into a standing position. The masked man levelled his revolver at Briggs. As he did so the wounded daughter struck at the weapon, almost sending it out of the man's hands. With an oath the man struck her to the floor senseless.

Having disposed of the daughter the masked man hit the feeble old farmer on the head with the butt end of the revolver. Briggs fell forward on his face.

While he lay defenseless and half unconscious, the masked man hit him again. Then, taking deliberate aim, he lifted two bullets into him. One entered his windpipe and the other his right shoulder.

Apparently thinking the old man was dead, the masked man walked back to the front door. On his way he saw a servant who was rushing out at the back door. He shot at her, but missed her Then he took to the fields. He carried nothing away from the house.

The officers are looking for Morris Savage, who was forcibly turned out of the Briggs house two weeks ago while drunk. Several persons declare that they saw Savage around the Briggs farm last night. Savage had also tried to break into the house on a previous occasion, and is said to have threatened murder. He has been arrested six times for creating disturbances. The tracks in the snow, which were followed to West Pottsdam, ended at the home of Savage's wife. Savage was not there, however.

Axe Mann and Vicinity.

Mr. Samuel Griffith has been working for W. H. Miller for some time. Sammy is a good fellow to work.

On Monday night 8th inst., there were two sheep owned by Frank Gettig, killed by dogs, near Gentzel's school-house, Spring township. These dogs ought to be shot by all means.

One of the most dangerous places to be found in Bellefonte is where the street and railroad run side by side east of Reynolds' mill. There should be a fence between the two roads down to the street that crosses the railroad or else if there happens to be an accident the borough or railroad company might be held for heavy damages.

Last Sunday was such a very pleasant day that many persons spent the day visiting their friends and acquaintances.

We hear that Mrs. Mary Griffith is sick. She is in her 89th year, and no doubt her age is the cause.

The farmers, with few exceptions, are through with their corn husking in this vicinity. In connection with their husking they have another hard job, viz.: loading, hauling and housing, or stacking their crop of corn fodder—especially if the corn fodder is cut off instead of being topped, the latter being light work compared to that which is cut off.

As the butchering season is again near at hand our farmers will have a chance to test their strength in the way of lifting heavy porkers and beeves.

There are several dogs near Axe Mann whose carcasses will be found by their owners if they are not kept more at home.

Mr. Kaufman is at present busily engaged in getting material together to build a large lime stack which is estimated to make 3,000 bushels of burnt lime. His farmer, Mr. J. F. Hoy, is helping him to erect the monster pile of stones. Last winter the same men built a lime stack that produced 2,000 bushels of lime.

The Durrant Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov., 11.—William Henry Theodore Durrant will not be hanged at San Quentin tomorrow, the supreme court of this state having granted another respite at the eleventh hour. Up to 4 o'clock when the news flashed over the wires from Sacramento that the court now in session there had granted a writ of probable cause and instructed Warden Hale not to carry out the execution of Durrant until further orders, there was apparently no further hope for the condemned murderer of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams, as his attorneys, Messrs. Dickinson and Boardman, had made a futile effort to secure another writ of habeas corpus in the United States court and had not even been granted permission to appeal from that decision to the supreme court of the United States.

Meanwhile, however, Attorney Duprey hastened to Sacramento and applied to the state supreme court for a writ of probable cause for the purpose of staying the proceedings against his client on the grounds that no official knowledge of the action of the supreme court of the United States in the matter of Durrant's appealling from the decision of the federal court had yet been received; that the superior court had acted too hastily in sentencing Durrant to be hanged to-morrow as the law required that he be given at least sixty days' grace, and, third, that the pendency of an appeal in the supreme court affixing the condemned was of itself insufficient cause for a stay of execution. The matter was partially argued in chambers and later argued before the full court and taken under advisement. Shortly afterward the court announced its decisions granting the writ applied for, in which all the justices concurred.

Makes a Grand Spectacle.

NAPLES, Novemben 11.—The eruption of Mount Vesuvius which began on Monday last, is increasing in activity. The spectacle is grand. Columns of smoke and tongues of flame are belching from the central crater, while showers of cinders are falling around.

Dr. Scott, whose Adv. appears in this issue makes the very liberal offer to every one trying his brush, that if it is not found satisfactory after six months trial he will refund the money, the brush has been sold over twenty years and must have merits to enjoy such an extensive sale.

Deafness of Twelve Years standing.

Protracted Catarrh produces deafness in many cases. Capt. Ben Connor of Toronto, Canada, was deaf for 12 years from Catarrh, all treatments failed to relieve. Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder gave him relief in one day, and in a very short while the deafness left him entirely. It will do as much for you.—34.

The hair

is like a plant. What makes the plant fade and wither? Usually lack of necessary nourishment. The reason why Dr. Ayer's Hair Vigor restores gray or faded hair to its normal color, stops hair from falling, and makes it grow, is because it supplies the nourishment the hair needs.

"When a girl at school, in Reading, Ohio, I had a severe attack of brain fever. On my recovery, I found myself perfectly bald and, for a long time, I feared I should be permanently so. Friends urged me to use Dr. Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, on doing so, my hair immediately began to grow, and I now have as heavy and fine a head of hair as one could wish for, being changed, however, from blonde to dark brown."—Mrs. J. LAID IN THE TOMB.

Solemn But Appropriate Ceremonies Over the Remains of the Late Joseph Fox.

The last words have been said, the last tribute of love and respect has been paid and all that was mortal of Joseph Fox lies in the tomb. His sudden and tragic death is still fresh in the memory of our citizens, and every heart cannot fail to be touched with sorrow and sympathy —sorrow at his death and sympathy for the bereaved family.

The funeral took place Tuesday morning from St. Johns Roman Catholic church on East Bishop street, where a requiem mass was said for him by his pastor, Rev. P. McArdle. The reverend father also preached an eloquent funeral sermon which moved many to tears and touched the hearts of all present. The services throughout were solemn and affecting. The singing by the large choir was beautiful, especially a solo as rendered by Mrs. Lena Brown entitled "Take Him My Jesus to Heaven."

The large edifice was crowded to the doors with an audience drawn from all walks of life, all anxious to show this mark of respect for an honest upright citizen who was taken from us in the prime of life.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Thad Hamilton, W. A. Ishler, N. Bauer, John Stuart, Dr. W. I. Thompson and C. W. Cherry. The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful.

Beautiful Music Box Chanced Off.

Almost every person in town has seen the beautiful "Regina" music box which was placed in Cruse's cigar store over a year ago, by its owner, Mitch Cunningham, to be chanced off. Many have also listened to its sweet music. Monday evening it was chanced off together with a box of Rosadora cigars and a gold mounted pipe. The numbers were drawn from the box by Master Arthur Thomas, who then handed them to Lew McQuistion who read them out.

The first lucky number to come out was 283, which drew the pipe. It was held by Superintendent Frank C. Williams, of the Electric Light Co. The next thing drawn was the box of Rosadora cigars. 357 was the number which took this prize and is held by J. H. Griffin, of Stormstown, Centre county. The music box still remained to be drawn and the excitement became intense. Everybody held their breath when Lew McQuistion held up the winning number, 493, but a wave of disappointment swept over the crowd when it was announced that 493 was held by G. B. Perkins, of Pitsburg, Pa. Mr. Perkins is the head of the detective agency. He only held four chances. It will be boxed up and shipped to him at once. Afterwards a turkey was chanced off which was won by "Lucky" George Freeman.

WILL HAVE HIS SAY.

Says Highwayman Lee, and so will the Judge of Clearfield County.

The Philipsburg Journal of Saturday last says Captain Harry Simler arrived in that town from Altoona on the 4.23 train Friday evening with James Lee, the colored highwayman, and at 5 o'clock gave him a hearing before Justice of the Peace Houck at Chester Hill, and in default, of $1,000 bail he was taken to the Clearfield jail on the 8.26 train.

The information against Lee was made by David Bailey, of Morrisdale, who was one of the parties held up by the three highway men on the night of October 21. Lee, at the hearing, had nothing to say except the plea of "not guilty" with the additional remark that he would have his say in court. He is still very weak from the effect of the bullet wound received during his attempt to escape from Captain Simler on the occasion of his arrest at Tyrone. He was conveyed to and from the 'squire's office in a cab.

Bertha Noll Better.

We are sorry to learn that Miss Bertha Noll, youngest daughter of John Noll, of this place, is lying very ill at one of the large hospital in Philadelphia. Miss Noll has been a sufferer for some time having been under the care of a physician for the past two years. About three weeks ago her condition became more serious and Dr. J. L. Seibert decided that an operation was neccessary. For this purpose she was taken to the hospital at Philadelphia two weeks ago last Thursday. She was accompanied by her mother Mrs. Noll.

On last Friday the operation was performed by one of the leading specialists of Philadelphia, who found the case even more serious than anticipated, as it took him three times as long to get through with it, as he had thought it would take. Dr. Seibert was present when the operation was made. After it was over her condition was very low. The operation was of a very serious nature and she seemed to have only a slight chance of recovery. Miss Noll has many friends in this place who are sorry to learn of her illness and who anxiously hope for her recovery.

Later Mr. John Noll received word from his wife who is with her daughter, Miss Bertha, stating that she is slowly getting stronger and better.

Where Game is Plenty.

The Bulletin says: Lewis F. Metzger, superintendent of the Ogontz fishery on Larry's creek, recently paid a visit with Jay Cook, Jr., of Philadelphia, to the woods of northern Maine in a hunting excursion. He reports it as a region of woods and waters with great abundance of game. He saw twenty-seven deer in one day and bagged a moose weighing 600 pounds; also a carriboo and two deer, which is all the law permits one person to kill in any one season. He reports that pheasants came around the camp in great numbers, and so tame that one could almost knock them down with a club. He found it altogether a veritable sportsman's paradise.

The Latest Scheme.

Two men travel together; one has a kodak or something resembling it. One of them goes to a farm house and tells the family he is getting up a history of that section to publish in a leading paper and wants to take a picture of the family and the buildings, telling the farmer it will not cost a cent,

The family group themselves out in front and the operator is quite a while in getting a satisfactory picture; at last it is done an he takes his leave telling them about what time they can expect to see the paper with it in. During this time his confederate has looted the house, taking money jewelry and watches. In one instance the kodak was a cigar box covered with leather.
